Citizens Water Committee Meets To Act On Program

CONFERENCE BEING HELD HERE TODAY

Will Decide On Whether To Support Original Plan Or Modify It

BULLETIN
A sharp division of opinion as to whether the petitions asking the board of supervisors to call a second $6,620,000 water bond election should be circulated before consideration of a compromise modified plan was found to exist at the county-wide citizens' committee meeting this afternoon. A Register reporter was ejected from the meeting when this divided opinion became evident. The motion passed ejecting the newspaperman included a provision that the public should know of what happened at the meeting only by what officers want to report after the meeting.

WATER LEADERS of Orange county who supported the big $12,994,000 water conservation and flood control program which met defeat at the October 4 election because voters believed the plan to be too expensive for the county, gathered in the Farm Bureau offices this afternoon to reach a decision on whether to circulate petitions for an election on the same program or to seriously consider a modified plan which likely would meet the approval of voters.

Developments since the last meeting of the group which show that sentiment in the county is uniting behind a modified water program that would serve the entire needs of the county at a total cost of but around five or six million dollars are expected to influence the county-wide committee to consider the proposed modified plan.

After a special Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce committee had held that there is no chance for the original program to meet the approval of voters even if a second election is held and had recommended to the chamber directorate that modified program be considered, it was announced by H. H. Cotton, state representative, that the government would agree to match whatever amount the county decided to put up and would approve a modified project, matching the county money with part of the $6,574,000 grant " earmarked" for the county.

Yesterday water interests were busy contacting engineers to develop a modified flood control and water conservation plan for the county which would be satisfactory to the voters, who balloted against the larger program.

The modified program would embrace all of the features of the Program To Unify Gains Is Proposed

President Outlines Plans To Make Agricultural Gains Permanent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)— President Roosevelt today announced a two-point program designed to unify agricultural gains and make permanent the program of the AAA.

In a statement issued at his first press conference since returning yesterday from a three-weeks southern cruise, Mr. Roosevelt stated "as I see it, this program has two principal objectives:

"1. To carry out the declared policy of congress to maintain and increase the gains thus far made, thereby avoiding the danger of a slump back into the conditions brought about by our national neglect of agriculture.

"2. To broaden present adjustment operations so as to give farmers increasing incentives for conservation and efficient use of the nation's soil resources."

At the same time the president revealed that expanded production of hogs to replace shortages caused by drought is contemplated under the proposed new corn-hog program which is being put up to a decision of producers in a nation-wide referendum tomorrow.

Asked if it was the administration's purpose to abandon the present corn-hog program, Mr. Roosevelt observed that he did not see how it could be maintained if the farmers did not desire it.

Notes Achievements
Pointing to achievements of the AAA in improving demand for city-made goods through increased farm buying power, Mr. Roosevelt remarked:

"There are people in this country who can see no room for further progress in the agricultural adjustment. Of these, some would be contented to continue the adjustment programs exactly as they are. There are even a few supporters of the AAA so well satisfied with what has been done that they would like to call the job complete and finished.

"But it never was the idea of the men who framed the act, of those in congress who revised it, nor of Henry Wallace, nor Chester Davis, that the agricultural adjustment administration should be either a mere emergency operation or a static agency.

"It was their intention—as it is mine—to pass from the purely

At another meeting of the San Clemente members of the Riviera of America association, arrangements were made for a three-day celebration in the form of an Old Spanish Days fiesta, barbecue and rodeo, to be held in San Clemente November 28, 30 and December 1.

A motion picture golf tournament, participated in by a number of the motion picture celebrities who are now working in a picture at Laguna Beach, as well as a large representation from Hollywood, is scheduled as part of the celebration. Jose Mendez, famed Spanish

Leader Says Drive In East And South Will Be Made In Next Six Months

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(UP)— Certain that their old age pension plan is the "sole and only hope of a confused and distracted nation," more than 6000 delegates to the Townsend convention today settled down to the debate which is to determine their national policy.

Officials predicted the fireworks of the convention, if any, might be expected tonight at the "court" session.

F. D. R. REVEALS RELIEF LOAD MUCH LIGHTER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)— Presenting a cheerful picture of the New Deal's efforts to lessen the nation's relief load, President Roosevelt reported last night that about 5,000,000 persons had been reemployed since he entered the White House.

The nation, he said, is emerging "happily and rapidly" from the "years of deep depression," and "even those industries which were long backward in showing signs of recovery are putting their best foot forward."

He said he had greater confidence that private industry is beginning to take up the unemployment slack, and urged the public to continue contributions to private charities so that federal, state and local governments might be freed from relief burdens.

Optimistic Report
Mr. Roosevelt's optimistic report was contained in a brief talk in behalf of the 1935 mobilization for human needs.

Declaring that he possessed "good news," the president added: "The results of the September employment survey have just come to me from the secretary of labor. During the month of September 350,000 men and women were returned to employment in the reporting private industries for the nation, and the money in weekly pay envelopes of these industries was $12,000,000 greater than their

N. Y. PUBLIC ENEMY DIES OF INJURIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)— Pursuing an apparently futile hope of identifying two gunmen who shot down and fatally wounded Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fliegerheimer, New York's number 1 public enemy, and three of his lieutenants, police today continued questioning his 21-year-old widow.

The spectacular, attractive, former show-girl was held at Newark, N. J., headquarters, still unaware that her ruthless, racketeering husband died at 8:30 p. m., last night of a wound inflicted by rival gangsters in a Newark bar-room Wednesday night.

Preceding him in death were two of his associates, Leo Frank and Otto Bernman, and following him by a few hours was his chief "trigerman" Bernard Rosenkrantz.

U.S. Accepts British Bid To Conclave

America To Participate In London Naval Conference December 2

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)— Determined to impress upon the world this government's desire for peace, the United States today officially notified Great Britain that it would participate in the London naval conference on December 2.

American acceptance of the British invitation was cabled by the state department last night to Ambassador Robert W. Bingham in London, for delivery to the British foreign office today.

Although officials here believe the present world situation, resulting directly from Italy's invasion of Ethiopia, and the consequent strain on British-Italian relations, precludes the possibility of any constructive progress toward further curtailment of naval armaments, they believed American participation in the conference might have some beneficial moral effect on unsettled world political conditions.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and President Roosevelt wrestled with the problem of a reply to the league of nations' request for official comment on the league's peace actions, including the application of financial and economic sanctions against Italy.

SINCLAIR DEBATES WITH KANSAS EDITOR

TOPEKA, Kans., Oct. 25.—(UP)— Charles F. Scott, publisher of the Iola Register, will face Upton Sinclair in a debate here tonight on the subject: "Production for use against production for profit."

Scott, noted Kansas conservative, will contend that adoption of the Sinclair Epic plan would destroy society in its present system.

In an interview, Sinclair declared the Townsend plan simply would prolong depressed conditions. "Our problem in this country used to be to take the rich off the backs of the poor," Sinclair said. "But now the problem is to take the poor off the backs of the rich, who cannot stand many more five-million dollar appropriations from the federal treasury."

BOYCOTT AGAINST BRITISH IS ASKED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(UP)— San Francisco's Italian chamber of commerce, joining affiliated organizations throughout the world today asked American Italians to join their boycott against Britain.

Members of the San Francisco Latin colony were asked to abstain from purchase of English merchandise, annual insurance policies with British firms, avoid use of British passenger or freight transportation facilities and refuse to enter banking or stock transactions in English money.

The boycott, the chamber said, was adopted "in answer to the concealed propaganda and the unjust boycott initiated by Great Britain, even before the League of Nations authorized her to act."

SPANISH PRINCE IN U. S.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)— Prince Juan of Bourbon, heir presumptive to the Spanish throne, and his princess honeymooned at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel today. They arrived yesterday from Europe, on a world tour, and will go next to Chicago, Washington, Canada, San Francisco and the Orient.

FLAMES ENGULF ACTOR'S HOME

The $24,000 home of Lionell Atwill, stage and screen star, burned to the ground in Encinal Canyon, near the Malibu Beach film colony, when brush fire, burning along an 18-mile front, got out of control. For a time the entire colony was threatened by the blaze. A change in the wind this morning again brought a threat of destruction to the Malibu homes.

STARS ABANDON MALIBU LAKE HOMES AT NOON

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(UP)— Alarmed as a wall of fire shot over dry woodland toward exclusive Malibu Lake in the Santa Monica mountains, socialites and film celebrities started exodus of their homes today.

Whipped by a strong wind, the disastrous blaze, one of a series of fires which have caused approximately $7,500,000 damage in southern California during the last two days, swung toward the Malibu mountain colony. The turn of the fire relieved pressure on other film homes at Malibu Beach, but threatened equal property damage unless fire fighters halt its progress.

The fire line was reported five miles inland from the more populous Malibu lake shortly after noon, but residents of the region were not reassured and, in many cases, started to move valuables.

A butler at the home of Sir Guy Standing, prominent British film actor, reported to the actor's studio that Sir Guy had joined the fire lines in an effort to save his ornate home, oriental rugs, war trophies and other cherished possessions.

The butler said Sir Guy, before he left for the fire lines, instructed the household to be ready to evacuate at a moment's notice.

Malibu Lake is approximately 15 miles inland from the more populous Malibu Beach, which twice has been threatened before veering winds turned the flames inland.

More than 2,000 men waged a guerrilla battle a five-mile front to save the lake property. Valuable homes on the lake and at Seminole Hot Springs were in danger.

PROTEST IS FILED WITH STATE BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Protests against the methods by which they were eliminated in civil service examinations were lodged today with the state personnel board of unsuccessful candidates for liquor enforcement jobs.

Only one question was asked of George P. Mills, Los Angeles, in the oral examination for supervising liquor control officer, he told the board. While he did not reveal the answer, Mills claimed his rejection followed the question, "Are you a minister?"

Thomas M. Carr, Santa Monica, complained his failure to pass the examination was known in advance by a former bootlegger. The bootlegger told him he would fail because it had been decided he was too active in enforcing laws while a member of the Santa Monica police force during the prohibition era, Carr stated.

Roosevelt To Give Radio Talk Nov. 11

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)— President Roosevelt will deliver an address on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, at Arlington National cemetery, Ray Murphy, national commander of the American Legion, said today on leaving the White House.

MEXICANS VOTE FOR STRIKE IN ORANGE GROVES

BANDS of Mexican orange pickers were moving about Orange county today seeking to put into effect a general strike of orange pickers called last night by a representative group of 100 pickers who met in Cypress to discuss the situation, according to Lucas Lucio, Mexican consular representative in Orange county.

At the meeting last night a resolution was adopted calling a general strike of pickers all over the county and today the group started work in the field to get all pickers to quit work until wages for pickers are increased, Lucio said. Lucio expressed a fear that oranges will go unpicked unless the matter is settled soon.

Five thousand circulars were distributed to pickers today asking them to go on strike, while Mexican pickers sought to influence those they call "scabs" to stop work.

A large percentage of the pickers from the Consolidated association of Orange was at the meeting last night to protest against wages offered them for picking off-bloom fruit, Lucio declared. He said the packing house offered the pickers eight cents a box and that the been scheduled for the night meeting.

NO RESTRICTION ON CANNING OF OLIVES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The agricultural adjustment administration announced today that no attempt will be made to restrict the output of olives for canning in California in 1935.

Although a majority of growers voted in favor of crop curtailment, the margin was so small as to make the "economic justification" of the plan highly questionable, AAA officials said.

They said the poll of 835 growers showed 573, representing 19,621 tons of canning olives, supporting the plan and 312, representing 8218 tons, opposed.

HALE ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COUNTY LEAGUE

EIGHTY representatives of cities in the Orange County League of Municipalities, unanimously voted for Mayor William Hale, of Fullerton, for president of the organization at the annual election of officers held last night at the Aquarium Cafe, in San Clemente, scene of the League's annual meeting.

Other officers elected were Fred Rowland, mayor of Santa Ana, vice president, and Albert Launer, Fullerton city attorney, re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Mayor Hale succeeds Mayor L. A. Hogue, of Brea, as president. The meeting heard Dan Mulholland, director of the WPA in Orange county, announce that 239 persons will have been put to work under the WPA by November 1 and as many more by the first of December. "With the help of the league we mean to put all the unemployed in the county to work," he said.

Beisel Talks
Gordon Beisel, Santa Ana, talked to the league members on the Santa Ana experimental sewage plant, taking the place of J. L. McBride, city engineer of Santa Ana, who is in San Diego attending a convention. Beisel declared the plant is ready to show excellent sewage reclamation, treating 10,000 gallons daily. "Our purpose is to produce a sewage effluent that is perfect," he explained the working order of the plant and

ETHIOPIAN WARRIORS MOVING TO FRONT TO HALT ITALIANS

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Thousands of soldiers encamped outside Addis Ababa for weeks moved swiftly toward the northern front today. Reliable sources said Emperor Haile Selassie has decided to throw them into decisive battle against Italy's invaders from Eritrea.

The troops left the capital with shields to carry them through little more than battle equipment, indicating that the command expects to keep them in the field only a few days. Most of them pointed toward Dessale.

Travelers from the north who saw wild Wollegas from the far south of the country streaming northward with Kambetas and Asmarans, tribes that for centuries regarded each other as natural enemies, said the Ethiopian general staff of the north had formed an army of almost 1,000,000 men.

The travelers said more than 70,000 horsemen waited near Dessale for a promised opportunity to charge an Italian army in the old style of the nomadic northern desert men. Military advisers of the emperor said such a force might conceivably ride down and overpower even an army well equipped with machine guns.

Most of the horsemen have no rifles. They will rely on their horses' hooves and spears, swords

STEPS TAKEN BY COUNCIL OF LEADERS

League Action Approved To Take Effect On Date Set At Geneva

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Great Britain decided formally tonight to apply economic penalties against Italy, as voted by the League of Nations.

The historic step was taken at Buckingham palace by the party council, which is comprised of the highest leaders of the nation and the empire and directly represents the king's authority in government.

The meeting approved orders-in-council applying the sanctions against Italy on the date to be set next Thursday by the League of Nations.

Parliament was dissolved tonight. A new house of commons will be elected Nov. 14.

King George prorogued his dying parliament today with a speech from the throne—read in his absence by the lord chancellor—in which he asserted that the government had done its utmost to preserve the peace of the world.

The prorogation, or recessing, was the formal preliminary to dissolution of parliament which was announced in tonight's official London Gazette.

Election Nov. 14
The dissolution will permit the coalition government to seek from the country in a general parliamentary election November 14 a mandate from the voters that provides for firm opposition to all war makers and an armament sufficient to give the opposition teeth.

Lord Hailsham, the lord chancellor, read the king's speech to the assembled houses of lords and commons.

Of the European crisis, the king's speech said: "The critical situation which has unhappily arisen between Italy and Ethiopia has aroused my gravest concern."

"From the moment the dispute occurred between the two countries as the result of a frontier incident in December last year my government have exerted themselves to the utmost, both individually and in cooperation with other states members of the League of Nations, to promote a peaceful settlement."

European Crisis
"To my regret these persistent efforts did not avail to prevent a resort to force, and my government has loyally supported efforts of the League of Nations with a view to restoration of peace and achievement of an equitable settlement in the spirit of the covenant" (of the League).

In discussing imperial defense the king said: "While my government have not

ing. A forum was on the afternoon program.

Dr. F. E. Townsend, climaxing a hectic session yesterday, left no doubt in the minds of his followers of his plans for a strenuous campaign mapped out for the next six months.

He was seconded strongly by R. E. Clements, co-founder of the Townsend movement and national secretary of the organization.

"You represent a part of the greatest political convention ever assembled under the Stars and Stripes," the erstwhile California pickers could average but $1.50 a day at this rate, although on some days they would make $4 or $5. As a result, three crews walked out of the groves, he said.

He said 12 pickers out of 150 formerly employed by this one house were working today.

The Mexican pickers proposed that a 10-cent a box rate or a 35-cent hourly rate be established for picking off-bloom fruit, according to Lucio, but this proposal was down by packing house officials. Lucio said that in the meantime the packing house had hired other pickers at the rate of $3.37 for nine hours' work. This practice, he declared, has caused general unrest among the pickers, some of whom have been working for the association for as long as 15 years.

During the meeting last night, Lucio said, orange growers came and asked pickers to go to work for from 35 to 40 cents an hour, saying their oranges are on the ground because of the wind storm. The growers, Lucio said, promised to pay at the rate of from 11 to 12 cents a box.

SCOOTER RIDER HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Hershel Beadles, 17-year-old paper boy, suffered a broken clavicle, serious cuts and bruises, a black eye and pavement burns when he was knocked off a motor scooter he was riding at First and Baker streets, at 7:50 o'clock last night by an automobile.

The automobile was being driven at the time by Joe T. Carpio, 1202 West Second street, according to a police report. He was not held.

Beadles was crossing the street near the intersection at the time of the accident. It was reported that his condition was not considered critical.

physician said.

"We are met here with the firm resolve to free from economic slavery and abject penance one-fifth of the population of our beloved country."

Makes Prediction

"Out of this confusion, out of the fog of doubt and indecision that characterizes our national attitude today, we shall emerge into the bright sunlight of economic security and social justice tomorrow."

"In 25 short months we have carried our resolve to have economic security into every city and village and farm throughout the land. We have become an avalanche of political power that no derision, no ridicule, no conspiracy of silence can stem."

"We court no assistance from any organized group of politicians. We ask no favors from organized capital. We are a movement of the people, for the people and by the people."

The lean doctor, little known until his more than a year ago, predicted that at the end of the next six months 80 per cent of the voting strength of the nation would be behind the Townsend plan.

Pay National Debt

With the plan once in effect, he predicted, it will prove so successful that not only will the aged be cared for, but the excess funds will more than pay off the national debt.

A sweeping campaign in the east and deep south is counted on, he indicated, to provide the final measure of success necessary to push the plan through congress.

Funds will be necessary, Clements said, to finance the campaign in the east and south. He pleaded for contributions.

An attempt was expected today to find a larger convention hall for the remainder of the meetings. More than 10,000 delegates and visitors jammed the corridors and outside rooms yesterday after a futile attempt to crowd into a hall built to seat about 2,000.

Tremendous ovations interrupted Dr. Townsend frequently last night, although the meeting generally was more orderly than earlier in the day when the crowd overflowed the press table and speakers' stand and Chairman Frank Arbuckle of California was forced to rap for order repeatedly.

"If we leave here with our work undone," Dr. Townsend said, "with confusion following us, the curse of Cain will fall upon us and upon our unhappy country."

Many Disappointments

A certain amount of inefficiency, selfish ambition, and even dishonesty is to be expected in an organization as large as the present one, Dr. Townsend declared. He observed that he had had disappointments in some of the officials, and had been disgruntled by several attempts to replace him as head of the organization.

"We ourselves must lay down the rules for the club guidance," Dr. Townsend declared, "or else surrender the entire movement to confusion and chaos."

Dr. Townsend also made a plea for larger contributions. He said $500,000 a month should be used to employ men and women to promote the movement nationally.

May Abolish Wars

"My system," said Dr. Townsend, "will do more than give each man and woman who has reached the age of 60 years $500 a month. It might, in the end, abolish such things as wars and all other taxes. We would do this: We would assess each purchase at the rate of two per cent. Millionaires would pay more than you and I. Those less fortunate would pay less."

"But in addition millionaires would be asked to contribute $20,000 annually which would help to bring in the $1,600,000,000 which would be necessary annually to carry out the plan."

"My friends, never let anyone tell you this can not be done, for it must be done!

"There are those who say that the taxes would pyramid with the years. They are opponents, those who say that, and what they claim is untrue. Why could not any additional moneys that accrue be used, for example, to pay off the mighty national debt?"

Ralph Clyde, city commissioner of Portland, Ore., brought an invitation today from Portland to hold the next national convention there, convention Chairman Frank Arbuckle announced.

Clyde, president of the Portland, Ore. city council, told the members that Oregon is the strongest Townsend state in the union in proportion to size.

It was the first time a major city had invited the organization to meet within its limits.

B. G. Rankine, assistant to the national secretary, presented his report on the club department. There are, he said 4504 clubs in the country.

Auditor's Report

The auditor's report to the national Townsend club convention today revealed Dr. Townsend's compensation from the organization's funds. He advocates $200 a month pension for persons over 60 providing they spend it all every month.

Ray S. McAllister, Long Beach, Calif., the auditor, reported $7532.75 had been paid to Dr. Townsend in salary and expenses since his idea became a national movement.

R. E. Clements, co-founder, receives the same salary and has drawn $7517.22 from the organization.

Receipts of the organization, money collected from contributors and sale of literature, totaled $636,795.32, the auditor reported, while expenditures have amounted to $585,446.42.

The balance, $51,350.79, is held in various trusts, he said, covering receipts and disbursements of the organization since July 1, 1934. McAllister ran through a long list of figures, paying particular attention to the $123,175.18 received in dues.

The largest figure reported was an item covering "congressional collections, which totaled $147,574.24."

Listed on the debit side was a payment of $39,550.44 for office salaries over an 18 months period. Funds paid to Dr. Townsend and Clements were not included in that figure, he said.

McAllister drew a laugh from the delegates when he reported a debit item of $2163.69 in "rubber checks."

ceased and will not cease their continuing efforts to promote limitation and reduction by international agreement all forms of armament, it has been found impossible to postpone further the expansion of the Royal Air force to a strength which will enable it to fulfill its vital duties of national and imperial defense; and the program necessary to give effect to this has now been undertaken."

The king's address dealt mainly with matters of imperial, national and domestic affairs.

The council meeting was brief. The king presided, and those present included J. Ramsay MacDonald, lord president of the council; Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, and others.

The meeting, by dissolving Parliament officially, opened the way for the general election campaign. The voters will be asked on Nov. 14 to elect a new parliament, with a majority authorized to work against war even at the cost of penalizing Italy as an example to other potential war-makers, and to build up the national armaments for defense in event of war.

GOVERNOR CURLEY VISITS SOUTHLAND

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(UP)—As senator or governor, James M. Curley is equally willing to serve the Democratic party in his home state of Massachusetts.

Political topics were not taboo when the governor arrived here yesterday, en route home from Honolulu, with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Donnelly. Today, he was making a whirlwind visit to the California Pacific International exposition at San Diego before returning to Los Angeles tonight.

About his political future, the governor had this to say: "I shall be governed by what the leaders of the party in my state consider best for party interests. If party solidarity and best interest demand I run for the senate I shall do so. If it seems best to run for governor, I shall do that."

NEW BEAUTY SALON TO OPEN SATURDAY

The Lois Beauty Salon, 418 North Sycamore street, will be formally opened tomorrow. It was announced today by Lois Kray, proprietor. Miss Kray has been active in a similar type of business in Orange county for the past several years.

Miss Esther Janssen, graduate of the Johnson School of Beauty, will be operator in the new salon, it was stated. Miss Janssen comes to the Lois salon from the Reed's La Belle Beauty shop, where she has been for the past four and a half years.

emergency phases necessitated by a grave national crisis to a long time, more permanent plan for American agriculture.

Outlines Objectives

"Simplification of present programs, with a view to increased flexibility, would readily lend itself to the broad objectives outlined. Decentralization of machinery to get more efficient administration closer to the farmers already has begun, and will be vigorously continued. To simplify administration, the AAA will work toward the objective of one contract per farm. The modifications planned, in addition to making administration easier, will facilitate production adjustment either upward or downward.

"The time may come when the AAA will prove as important in stimulating certain kinds of production as it has been in removing recent burdensome surpluses. For example, an expanded production of hogs, to replace shortages caused by drought, is contemplated under the proposed new corn-hog program, which is put up to a decision of producers in a nationwide referendum tomorrow.

"The long time and more permanent adjustment program will provide positive incentives for soil conservation.

"The simplified and more flexible adjustment program of the future can be made to serve the permanent advantages of producer and consumer. I can think of nothing more important to the permanent welfare of the nation than long time agricultural adjustment carried out along these lines."

Newport Woman Hurt In Crash

Mrs. Oscar Jack of 116 Twentieth street, Newport Beach, was injured about the neck at 5:35 p.m. yesterday when the car in which she was riding with her husband collided with an automobile driven by Miss Urcle Caulfield, Santa Ana.

The accident occurred at South Main street and St. Andrews' place.

The police report stated that Miss Caulfield was travelling south on Main street and started to make a left turn at the intersection. Oscar Jack, driver of the other car tried to pass between the Caulfield car and the curbings, his car colliding with the front of the Caulfield machine.

Mrs. Jack was taken to her home.

barbecue expert of the San Diego exposition, will prepare an open air barbecue sufficiently large to entertain the several thousand guests expected to attend.

Active Winter

The city, according to Mayor Smith, is arranging for brilliant lighting and colorful decorations for its fiesta, and a number of well known bucking horse riders, ropers and others of rodeo fame will participate in the three-day affair. Its mayor said these events are but "forerunners of a series which will make San Clemente a bee-hive of activity and life for the entire winter season."

Answering implications that the city revenue is dependent upon arrests of motorists, Mayor Smith today "pointed with pride" to the record of the traffic department of the police department.

"Handling a traffic situation of well over 2,000,000 cars passing from Los Angeles to San Diego," he said, "San Clemente has found it necessary to make considerably less than 100 arrests a month during that time, and in all its far-spreading territory other than the very center of the city, no arrests have been made for a speed of less than 57 miles an hour, 12 miles over the speed allowed by state law."

The greater part of the arrests, he explained, have been for drunk and reckless driving. "On top of all this," he concluded, "the percentage of accidents in the incorporated area has been cut down over 70 per cent. Of this we are justly proud."

larger program considered necessary, using the same projects with the exception that the size of the dam proposed to be erected on the Santa Ana river would be reduced and several of the smaller dams believed unnecessary would be eliminated.

While the county-wide group meeting this afternoon had decided to circulate petitions asking the supervisors to call a second election on the entire flood control project, it was believed that the group would consider the modified program before acting to call an election which the chamber of commerce group and others believe would not have a chance of getting the approval of voters.

ANTIQUE GUNS COLLECTED

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (UP)—In the valuable collection of antique guns of W. A. Saul of Douglas, an old "blunderbuss" war weapon of the 1600's is probably the most interesting. Saul has been collecting firearms for about 40 years and has more than 400 guns in all.

invited all persons interested to visit it. He declared that reclaimed sewage is more effective for irrigation purposes than ordinary water and stressed the importance of a trickling plant as is the one in Santa Ana, over the activated sludge.

Flaherty Present

Roland Flaherty representing the Orange County Farm Bureau was introduced and made a short talk, stating that "decided unity exists between cities and suburban districts and stressed the importance of county government and governmental expenses of schools and roads. Considerable study should be given to rural police departments, he said, stating that he did not believe that the present situation was adequate.

The League voted to accept an invitation to attend a Los Angeles county league meeting to be held in Long Beach on November 21, and passed a resolution giving the board of directors the power to raise league dues of the cities, not to exceed 100 per cent, as may be necessary to meet expenses in the future.

Harry Welch, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Newport Beach, invited all League members to enter in a 16 pair horseshoe tournament to be held in Newport beach on November 9.

The group was welcomed to San Clemente by Mayor A. T. Smith of that city.

weekly pay envelopes in the previous month of August."

He said this had brought the total reemployment in private industry since his inauguration to nearly 5,000,000 persons, with a weekly payroll increase of $104,000,000. Employment in September, he said, was at the November, 1930, level, and payrolls at the May, 1931, figure.

Recalling his recent appeal to private industry to increase its payrolls and to provide jobs, Mr. Roosevelt said the labor department estimates "lead me to a greater confidence that private industry is living up to my hope."

"We seem to be taking up the slack," he said.

Critics of the administration's $4,000,000,000 campaign to find jobs for 3,500,000 and end direct relief were answered by a prediction that the "great majority of these people" will be at work within a month. The program, the president declared, is creating "bona fide" jobs.

Mr. Roosevelt said the "full force and effect" of his vast social security program "cannot, of course, become operative until several years have elapsed, nor will this law in any sense replace the proper and legitimate fields now covered by private contributions to private charities."

GREEK TROOPS ARE RUSHED TO CRETE

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

ATHENS, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Two thousand troops and three warships were sped to Crete, south of the Greek mainland, today to crush a Republican revolution against the proposed restoration of King George II.

Four hundred and fifty republican leaders were arrested in a series of raids here, including George Papandreu, head of the new Republican party, who was in jail.

Thirty thousand armed independents and Republicans were reported in the revolting force in Crete and it was feared the uprising might spread to the mainland.

Feeling is bitter regarding the proposed restoration of George II and Republicans and Liberals intend to boycott the plebiscite to be held November 3 on the question of asking George to return to the throne from which he was ousted in 1922.

New 1936 Plymouth —the Peak of Perfection

First Showing Today—See It!

TODAY we are displaying for the first time the new 1936 Plymouth. It is the finest low priced car ever offered the American public. In size, in style—in riding and steering—in safety and performance and economy, the very Peak of Perfection.

This new car is bigger, roomier, more luxurious, than any previous Plymouth. It has distinctive new style. The Floating Ride has been perfected with a new sway eliminator and a new twice-as-rigid frame. The Hydraulic Brakes are of the genuine two-way pressure type with stepped cylinders. The new Safety-Steel body has been super-strengthened with new reinforcements—is insulated from the frame with sound-deadening rubber. And again, Plymouth is the most economical full size car, with 82 horsepower and the smoothness of patented Floating Power engine mountings.

Don't fail to see this amazing new Plymouth, now!

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

Your certainty that life continues and that personality persists after death is not founded upon the fact that many others have agreed that this should be so. Your faith rests upon the experience of those who walked and talked with the risen Christ and upon that of multitudes who have lived in His companionship and strength ever since.
Theories and hopes only point the way; experience brings conviction.

SCOUT LEADERS HEAR ADDRESS BY EXECUTIVE

With more than 100 Scout leaders from all parts of Orange county present, a special meeting of the executive board of the Orange County Boy Scout Council was held last night in Camp Irvine, near Irvine park.

The speaker of the evening was Oscar Kirkham of Salt Lake City, regional national Boy Scout executive, who had spent yesterday in making an inspection tour of Boy Scout activities in Orange county. The regional executive expressed himself as being highly pleased with the growth of Scouting activities in the county.

In his talk last night, Kirkham, who was introduced by Col. M. B. Wellington, president of the council, called attention to the obligations of the council to Scouts of the county.

He said the Scouts should have lots of fun; should make lasting friendships and have many chums; should enjoy the benefits of good leadership, of giving unselfish service and should enjoy actually doing things.

Installation of the new Boy Scout troop sponsored by the Church of the Latter Day Saints was a feature of the evening meeting. William R. Ermslow is Scoutmaster of the new troop.

BEAN GROWERS HOLD ANNUAL DINNER EVENT

The annual dinner meeting of the Orange County Farm Bureau will be held tonight at 6:30 o'clock in the Assembly hall of the bureau. It was announced today by R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the bureau.

L. J. Bushard, Talbert, will act as chairman of the meeting, it was announced. He also will give the annual report of the department, outlining work done during the past year.

Featured speaker of the meeting will be P. L. Churchill, manager of the California Lima Bean Growers association. The talk, according to Flaherty, will be of unusual interest to growers of the county, as it will contain the first official estimates of the 1935 crop and its market price.

The bean crop this year is reported to be from 20 to 25 per cent off figures of the year before, due to intense heat during September. Churchill will discuss marketing and surplus control questions, and a chance will be afforded for a forum discussion of the topic.

METHODISTS TO HOLD TWO-DAY CONFERENCE ON WORLD SERVICE PROGRAM STARTING ON MONDAY

A Discussion Conference, in connection with the "Know Your Church" world service program of the Methodist church, will open next Monday morning in the First M. E. church of Santa Ana and continue until Tuesday noon, the program being packed with interesting addresses by various dignitaries of the church, missionary leaders and others.

The Discussion Conference program scheduled here is identical with such programs planned in various Methodist churches of Southern California between October 3 and November 7.

Representatives of all church agencies will be on the local program, to inform the audiences of the achievements made possible through World Service giving. Women's societies are cooperating and their speakers will have equal prominence with the men on the programs.

Bishop James C. Baker's address Monday evening, is the highlight of the first day's program, which opens at 9:45 a. m. with a roll-call of churches represented, and appointment of committee for the local church, to report at the close of the conference.

Bishop Baker, the Rev. Willie Martin and others will participate in a discussion of the subject, "Why Are We Here?" at 10 a. m. which will be followed by the subject "Where Are We Now?"

Among local church leaders on the program of the conference will be Mrs. Harry C. Chapman, of the Woman's Home Missionary society, and Mrs. Horton Palmer, of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society.

The closing address of the conference will be delivered at 12 o'clock noon, Tuesday, by Dr. Roy L. Smith, pastor of the First M. E. church of Los Angeles.

Goodwin, of 522 East Chestnut street, at 9:50 p. m. yesterday, at the entrance to the alley between the courthouse and the hall of records on Broadway, and escaped with $15 in currency. Goodwin reported to the police a few minutes later.

Police cars searched the neighborhood, questioning two men resembling the bandit, but neither was taken into custody.

Goodwin said that as he walked along the street the man stepped out of the shadows and shoved a .45 calibre pistol against his side, ordering him to turn over his money.

He gave the police a good description of the bandit, saying he was six feet in height, weighed 175 to 180 pounds, had on a dark gray suit, a pearl gray hat, white shoes and a blue shirt. The man had a gray moustache and wore glasses, he said.

Santa Ana Lodge No. 241, F. & A. M., will hold a smoker on Friday evening, October 25, at 7:30, consisting of cards and entertainment. All Master Masons are cordially invited to attend. If you don't play cards you will have an enjoyable evening visiting among the brethren. Refreshments.

SIDNEY J. BABCOCK, W. M. Adv.

This will be followed by a panel discussion of the topic "What Can the General Conference Do to Improve Our World Service Program?"

Dinner will be served at 5:45 p. m. At the evening session, set for 7 o'clock, Corliss Hargraves, Dr. Holmes, Merle N. English, associate secretary, board of education, Chicago; the Rev. Glenn R. Phillips, pastor of the First church, Hollywood; and J. S. Stowell, of the board of home missions and church extension, Philadelphia, will give short addresses. The address of the evening, by Bishop Baker, is set for 8 o'clock.

Dr. Walter Torbert, western representative.

BROADCAST WARNING
ON MALIBU BLAZE

The Orange County Police radio station shortly before noon today sent out a general broadcast, warning all persons who have mountain cabins in the Malibu Lake district that they had about five hours to rush to the cabins and take out property.

A serious forest fire was burning nearby and from wind conditions, fighters were of the opinion that cabins in this district could not be saved.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Oct. 25. — Mr. and Mrs. John Stinson had as weekend guests, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stinson, and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Altie, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gardner and daughter were entertained at Sunday dinner by Mr. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Gardner.

The Rev. K. Kikuchi, pastor of the Wintersburg Japanese church, has returned from a 10-day evangelistic tour of Central California, where he preached an average of two sermons each day.

Modernization Doubles Income

Above is an example of how carefully planned modernization will convert an unprofitable business into a "money-maker," both for the tenant as well as to the property owner. The establishment before repairs (shown at left, above) was in a good location, but, due to its poor plan, several operators had failed to make the place pay. Rearrangement and new equipment were included in the modernization project. Today the establishment is operating at earnings "double the lessee's most optimistic expectations and at a most satisfactory profit above operating costs."

You and Your Friends

Mrs. Paul Bailey and daughter and son, Miss Helena and Charles Bailey, 311 East Washington avenue, are home from Berkeley, where they were present for the wedding October 20 of their daughter and son, Miss Edith Bailey, to Walter Drayce Gibbins. Mr. Bailey is remaining in the north on business. The new Mr. and Mrs. Gibbins left by plane for a honeymoon trip of unannounced destination. They are expected to return to Berkeley next week to take up residence at 2101 Deakin street, where they will have their home all in readiness.

Miss Betty Hoblit, 451 West Eighth street, is spending this week in Los Angeles as a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hess. While there she has been attending opera, "Midsummer Night's Dream," and other presentations of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Harvey, 806 Lacy street, and the latter's sister, Mrs. D. M. Jellis, 1209 West Highland street, plan to leave early Sunday morning by automobile for Yakima, Wash. Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Jellis are former residents of the northern city. They will visit with their sister, Mrs. Bert Lewis, and with friends in Yakima, returning home in three weeks.

Mrs. Muriel Bray, Elizabeth Marsile, Florence Watson and Myrtle Ellis, members of Native Daughters of the Golden West, were in Placencia yesterday attending a sewing session in the home of Mrs. Mattie Edwards and Miss Gladys Edwards. In the evening the group attended a benefit dinner and card party given by Native Daughters of that city.

Mrs. Ella June LaPierre has returned to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Elliott, 2110 North Ross street, after a visit in Laguna Beach with Mrs. Hiel G. Rider.

Mrs. Russell Krebs Reagan (Helena Slabaugh) and her tiny son Ronnie (christened Ronald Frank Reagan) have rejoined Mr. Reagan in their Palm Springs home after an extended visit during the hot weather, with Mrs. Reagan's parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, 407 West Santa Clara avenue.

Mrs. P. W. Kerr of Tuolumne is spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. F. M. Nelson, 121 East Pomona street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Thompson, 813 Garfield street, have as their houseguest for several days the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Thompson of Hemet. The Rev. Mr. Thompson is preaching tonight and tomorrow afternoon in Reformed Presbyterian church preparatory to Communion services.

Mrs. J. H. Bray and daughter, Miss Joan Bray, 2022 Bush street, plan to attend the Chaffee Junior college-Santa Ana football

PENSION CLUBS
MEET SUNDAY

Coincident with the closing session of the Townsend National Convention now being held in Chicago, a mass meeting of local Townsend club members and friends of the movement will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets, Santa Ana, next Sunday, according to announcement this morning by Dr. U. G. Littell, president of Club No. 2, which, with Club No. 10, is sponsoring the meeting with the cooperation of all the other clubs in the city.

The meeting is called to start at 12:45 p. m. so as to be ready to receive the broadcast from the national convention at 1 p. m. Clubs throughout the nation are meeting at the same time in what will constitute a nationwide mass meeting.

R. W. Gentry, said to be one of the best speakers working out of Townsend headquarters in Los Angeles, will deliver an address following receipt of the national broadcast, and other items will complete a very interesting program. Dr. Littell said. Stress was laid on the fact that no collection will be taken at this meeting, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

NEW LOW PRICE OF OLDSMOBILE IS ANNOUNCED

The new 1936 Oldsmobiles, just announced to the public, will be offered at new lower prices, according to Knox brothers, Oldsmobile dealer in Santa Ana.

Although every proven feature necessary to safety, comfort, performance and economy has been retained and many new ones added in the new 1936 Oldsmobiles, the prices will be lower, the Oldsmobile dealer said.

"In addition to those advantages to Oldsmobile success... such as knee action wheels, super hydraulic brakes, solid steel turret top body... many new refinements of motor, body and chassis have been built into the new 1936 models," said Mr. Knox.

"Safety glass is now standard equipment throughout, in all body types. Electro hardened aluminum alloy pistons give increased econ-

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 25. — A chili supper was enjoyed this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson on North Euclid avenue when members of a sewing club and their husbands met for an evening of bridge.

Covers were placed for the following at small tables centered with orange baby chrysanthemums: Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Edwards, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barnes, of Brea; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lake, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

A Halloween motif was carried out in the tables used for the bridge games. First prize was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lake.

HEPBURN STARS IN 'ALICE ADAMS' AT WEST COAST TODAY

Katharine Hepburn gives the most vivid and colorful characterization in the history of her screen career in the title role of "Alice Adams" which opens today at the West Coast theater. The film is the screen version of the book written by Booth Tarkington in 1911 and which was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1922.

The story revolves about a young girl and her family in a small town in the Middle West. Greatly embarrassed by her shabby home, lack of money and the resulting social oblivion, she strives to cover her hurt pride with a mask of pretense. When she stops trying to deceive herself and the man she loves, she wins the things she desires.

Fred MacMurray has the role of the man who epitomizes all Alice's dreams of the ideal lover. Graphic pictures of the hopeless, plodding father and the nagging, disillusioned mother are provided by Fred Stone, hailed as a successor to Will Rogers, and Ann Shoemaker, respectively. Stone, who for many years was a star on the New York stage, is making his screen debut in "Alice Adams." Others in the cast include Evelyn Venable, Charles Grapewin, Frank Albertson and Hedda Hopper.

SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES, Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cadwallader and children spent the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Goble, at their ranch home in San Timoteo canyon, near Redlands.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Adams, of Lennox, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Orin S. Hunt entertained with a family dinner at their home recently, the guests being Mr. Hunt's mother, Mrs. Addie Hunt, of Santa Ana, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. Eugene Hunt, of Rialto, and their children, Beverly and Shirley. Mr. Hunt's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David Brooks, were evening visitors.

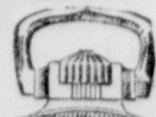

Mrs. Henry Hickman is recovering from a serious case of infection in her hands, caused by the use of sprays in her garden.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Bates have moved from their home on Fourth and Main streets to West Fifth street, Santa Ana.

Charles Helmick has left by train for Wisconsin, where he will make his home with his son, Perl Helmick.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Foote, of Los Angeles, were recent dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. George McGurk, of South Gate, are on a 10-day trip to Klondike, Ariz.

As Long As Six Months To Pay No Interest No Red Tape Terms to Suit You

LEWIS
405 W. 4th St. Santa Ana

Deal experiments in bear-and-bull roping to their first severe strain. After delaying a year to frame rules limiting the use of bank funds for speculative purposes, Reserve Board Governor Eccles is frantically whipping them into shape. Securities Exchange Commission Chairman Landis is anxiously watching the tape for signs of rigging or manipulation. Thus far he hasn't caught the boys off guard. Stocks on the rise have recently shown better earnings and possibilities. He doesn't want to blunder into a case that won't hold up.

It's Mr. Eccles' banks which are shelling out funds to hungry speculators. Brokers' loans, which have been subject to marginal limitations for some time, totalled only $818,000,000 in mid-October. But member bank loans based on security transactions amounted to almost $2,000,000,000. When borrowers can't meet the margins required at brokerage offices, they walk across the street and get the cash from the banks.

DYNAMITE
Administration watchers view the mounting market with mixed emotions—like the hooper on amateur night. It appreciates the market's complacency but isn't sure it deserves—or wants—it.

A soaring market which cracked up between now and next November might prove fatal to Mr. Roosevelt. There are several new factors, as those in the know realize. A crash would repudiate Rooseveltian promises that New Deal bank and security legislation would remove the danger of 1929's repetition.

With billions of credit lying around loose—like dynamite on a playground—officials realize that a wild market is not just a wild dream. They are praying that everybody keeps their heads. They suspect inwardly that New Deal safeguards won't stand up against the impact of human nature's desire for easy money.

BATTLE
Although Publicist Michelson laughs off the "infallibility" of lawyers aligned against the administration, they are giving an exhibition of fast and fancy footwork.

Here's how they operate: Recently Mr. Ickes offered a loan and grant funds to the town of Hominy, Okla., for a public power plant. But an anti-New Deal law firm bobbed up from nowhere to oppose the grant pending a final decision of the supreme court. Succeeding in this step, the legalites apparently convinced the country side for clients. Now they have piled up about twenty similar cases. In some instances it is understood the private utilities would not have contested such grants unless argued into it. Thus Hominy may become a historic battleground between "lawyers" and "liberals."

Dean Acheson, who quit the treasury in protest against Roosevelt monetary policies, is a member of the law firm. The courtroom was crowded with "minute men" from the American Liberty League and the Edison Electric Institute. And most of them were Democrats.

Several exporters' experiences with the state department indicate that the ban on dealing with Italy or Ethiopia is a song without words. That is, mostly music.

The president's pronouncement that Americans must trade with the two belligerents at their own risk had a fine ring. But it didn't take into account certain realities. As long as the war is confined to these nations, and Italy pays for its goods there is no danger in supplying Mussolini with raw materials like cotton, copper, oil, etc. Ethiopia has no navy and could not seize American exports if she wanted to.

Mr. Hull conceded that fact in discussing the filling of Italian orders by American firms. He admitted that there is no legal bar to such commerce, merely the presidential warning it was at their "own risk." But he would not put his views in writing. So the exporters are taking no chances pending Geneva's decision as to whether the conflict shall spread or be localized.

NOTES—
Among the glories of the new supreme court building are stainless steel cuspidors costing $25 each—and plenty of 'em. One of the justices had them removed from his chambers. A pretty wide poll of factory workers in Pennsylvania showed a swing away from Roosevelt. Jim Farley indignantly denies that the Washington post office is a political plum—it will go to a career man. AAA is cautiously advising consumers that it is to their interest to raise the price of potatoes.

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

BOOM TIP
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The basis for an extensive residential building campaign has been placed on President Roosevelt's desk, or nearby. It is in the form of a confidential report from Peter Grimm and associates. They are the New York real estate experts imported into the treasury department to plan something big on housing.

Mr. Grimm has been prying quietly into local conditions in the area east of the Mississippi and has found that existing housing facilities are 96 to 98 per cent occupied. Or, as a real estate expert always puts it, vacancies are 2 to 4 per cent.

This is a rather surprising figure because normal vacancies generally amount to about 10 per cent. It means time is ripening for a housing boom.

RENTS
Mr. Grimm and Co. are supposed to take the view that the boom is certain within three years, but that a more deplorable trend will come first. They foresee a perpendicular rise in rents. This, they say, has already started, imperceptibly. What they mean by imperceptibly is that residential rentals are now tending to slide up 5 to 10 per cent above last year.

The boom, as they see it, will cause a spiral cycle on building which will last a few years until the country is again overbuilt. Then will come another depression, lasting until the country again catches up with the builders.

This is inevitable, they say, but a swift start now on a federal housing promotion campaign may take altitude from the spiral and level it off somewhat. Apparently no new federal agencies are needed, in their opinion. What they want to do is to create a home building urge among the people. Home building shows will be opened in large cities around the first of the year. These will be held in armories, etc., will display model homes, fine modern home building equipment, incite the housewife to prod the husband into building a home of their own.

Mr. Grimm and company think it can be done.

CLASH
Mr. Grimm has applied foot-ease to all the toes he stepped on around here at first; that is, all except one. His troubles with Secretary Ickes still continue. But then, Mr. Ickes has always been another government in a different country. He is sticking to his low cost housing ideas, which put the government in direct competition with what Mr. Grimm has in mind. When Mr. Grimm talks of housing, he means homes costing from $2500 to $7500 privately built. When Mr. Ickes talks of housing, he means government-built homes which he expected to build for around $2500, but which are costing about $397. That clash will never end. No one in the New Deal or out has ever been able to do much about Mr. Ickes.

REAL ESTATE

So many enthusiastic housing efforts have been made and have failed to justify either the enthusiasm or the money spent on them that Mr. Grimm's enthusiasm will also be subjected to skeptical analysis. However, the real estate picture is unquestionably clearing up. Not only the home owners loan corporation, but the farm mortgage unit will go on a self-liquidating basis next year. Only the last drops of emergency mortgage relief demand now remain. Applications for farm mortgage help are supposed to have dropped lately to 30 a day, as compared with a peak of 17,000 per day.

The population is not increasing much, but the marriage rate has picked up. Also there is a tendency of families to get away from the doubling-up, trebling and quadrupling noticeable during the depression.

The wise man will build as soon as he can, before new activity swings building costs higher.

PLANT?

What the New Dealers would like to find out is what General Johnson is up to. His latest magazine piece accused the president of turning the New Deal into a refuge camp for radicals in no friendly terms.

They do not know whether it means that the Baruch-Johnson-Peck-Moley wing of presidential advisers is getting ready to walk out, or whether Johnson is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for himself or for someone like Al Smith.

The solution might be simpler if the insiders did not know that, every once in a while, President Roosevelt permits attacks on himself from friends in order to prepare the way for changes in policy. He has been known to have encouraged antagonistic speeches and articles as psychological justifications for starting a new trend.

For that reason there is considerable wonder whether the heads of a few left-wingers may be about to fall.

BOO

Utilities holding companies have found a way, at last, to get even with the New Dealers.

The local street car line here is a subsidiary of North American, one of the largest of utility holding companies. For the past week, while the securities and exchange commission has been trying to draw up holding company regulations, the street car company has been laying new tracks outside the street.

Every descending hammer on the rails thundered "boo." Steel drills set up a continuous background of deafening Bronx cheers in crescendo.

It is having a confusing effect on the preparation of the new regulations.

WAIT

There's a private argument going on inside the securities exchange commission—not serious—but pointed enough to show that the commission hasn't yet solved the problem of how best to control the securities markets to its own satisfaction. Opinion differs principally on how rigorously the law should be enforced.

What might be called the "liberal" faction fears a severe public kickback against the commission when the expected inflationary stock market hits an eventual reaction. Their idea of forestalling this is to be very aggressive now—to "make an example" of some big operator in order to prove to the public that they are on the job. They figure it wouldn't be difficult to dig up a transgressor against restrictions on speculation—and Wall Street agrees with them on that. Some liberals would also like to have a commission representative named to sit in the councils of the new federal reserve board—thus giving it a voice in determining general credit policy—but this ambition is unlikely to be realized.

The "conservative" viewpoint is that now is no time to start bearing down with recovery under way. They aren't worried about eventual criticism because they

New 1936 Plymouth will be Here Tomorrow

Important Improvements in Ride and Performance

IT'S HERE... the best engineered... the roomiest, most beautiful Plymouth we've ever built. The 1936 Plymouth is again America's most economical full-size car. Evidence indicates 18 to 24 or more miles per gallon of gas... low oil consumption... extremely low upkeep.

Among 40 improvements, the big Plymouth frame has been made 100% more rigid... bodies newly reinforced at five major points.

Eleven new comfort features have been added to Plymouth's famed Floating Ride... inches of extra leg, elbow and shoulder room. New sway-eliminator and twice-as-rigid frame provide the riding smoothness you'd expect in this big car.

With a new steering design, there just isn't any trace of road shock at the wheel. More power and pick-up than you'll ever need... vibrationless Floating Power... easy clutch and gear shifting. You've never driven a car so easy to handle.

The new Plymouth Safety-Steel body is the sturdiest and quietest we have built. The 100% hydraulic brakes stop you quickly and safely. It's the safest low-priced car!

See... and drive... and ride in this beautiful new Plymouth.

Your Chrysler, Dodge or De Soto dealer will put a new Plymouth at your disposal, quick. (Ask about the official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan... payments to fit your budget.)

BIG CITRUS BY-PRODUCTS PLANT AT ANAHEIM HELD AID TO SURPLUS PROBLEM

Control of fresh fruit on the market will only partially solve the grower's problem, and will not achieve stabilization. The surplus fruit problems remain, and unless it, too, is correctly solved, the control of fresh fruit actually aggravates the grower's situation, instead of helping him. Solving the surplus fruit problem correctly means eliminating present waste in the handling of surplus fruit, and salvaging all its values for the grower. That way lies the grower's only hope for stabilization.

Such is the contention of H. C. Leo, president of the Mutual Citrus Products Company, of Anaheim, and it is upon that theory and principle that a new and flourishing industry is being built in Orange county.

The Mutual Citrus Products company, which deals in the by-products of citrus fruit—all of the by-products, not just some of them—and utilizes just about everything except the seeds, has demonstrated the soundness of its president's theory, by its successful operations, he points out.

Grows Rapidly
Established six years ago, the plant has not only grown immensely in size, but this year will manufacture and sell more than 15 times the volume of its output in 1929, its first year, according to Leo.

It employs 76 persons in three shifts, the plant operating 24 hours a day and seven days a week, and boasts a monthly payroll of $75,000, of which $50,000 is for labor.

Practically 90 per cent of the output is sold outside of the state, which means that a large annual sum of outside money is brought into this state and county.

The company already has established another plant in Messina, Italy, and receives a royalty on production there under its patents. The Messina plant is the largest exclusive lemon-handling house in the world.

The growth of his business, President Leo contends, is proof of the soundness of his theory that waste must be eliminated; that the juice alone is not enough to save from surplus fruit; that the pectin and oil, for example, must be extracted and utilized.

The grower's market thus is extended to include oil for confectioners, for extracts and beverage manufacturers, and the like; pectin for jellies; peel for marmalades and candies; straight juice for the pie bakers and beverage dealers; concentrated juices for the foreign market, largely to England. In all the plant turns out about 50 different by-products of citrus fruit, which are shipped all over the world.

The pectin output is increasing rapidly; in the last two years it has jumped from 50,000 pounds to 235,000 pounds. Equipment is now being added to increase it to 600,000 pounds for 1936.

The grower in the future cannot afford to think only in terms of fresh fruit, says Leo, but must look to methods for increasing consumption of his product. That result is provided by the utilization of by-products.

The Mutual Citrus Products plant, with its up-to-the-minute machinery: its cooking tanks, filter-bags, evaporators, precipitation equipment, vacuum tanks, filling and canning apparatus, pasteurizing tanks and, finally its testing laboratory, where every product is scrutinized for quality and uniformity before being released to the public, is the grower's way out of his marketing difficulties, according to resident Leo.

In an interview today, he summed the problem.

Gives Interview
"There has been a great deal said during the past few years regarding the regulation of fresh fruit shipments to the markets to bring fair prices to the growers, and the logic of the idea seems very sound," said Leo. "In fact, partially effective methods have been adopted to control fresh fruit shipments with more or less beneficial effects to the grower. However, where there is regulation and control of fresh fruit shipments, the surplus problem becomes more and more serious, especially if any new increasing acreage comes into bearing."

"It has not only become a problem of regulation of fresh fruit shipments, but also a problem of handling surplus properly. The very surplus that regulation of fresh fruit engenders will eventually shake the foundations of successful citrus growing. No grower can raise citrus fruit profitably and sell but a fraction of his crop and throw the balance away. Increased prices on the diminishing portion which reaches the market is not the answer, either, because increased selling prices curtail purchasing power and the natural economic result is a devastating reaction which will not only endanger the citrus grower, but will eventually destroy his industry."

Lemon Situation
"A good example of what does transpire and has actually happened can best be illustrated by taking the lemon situation as it now is after many years of attempted regulation on the part of the Exchange, which handles the bulk of the lemons grown in the United States."

"Over the period from 1930 to 1934, 57,530 cars were shipped by the Exchange as fresh fruit, and 13,843 cars shipped to the Corona by-products plant. This surplus was 24 per cent of the amount which went as fresh fruit. For this surplus the grower received about $5 a ton."

When the lemon crop is harvested, it costs as much to pick, haul, and sort the surplus as it does the marketable fruit. This cost per ton is never less than $8, so when the grower receives $5 per ton returns he is actually losing $3 per ton above cost of picking, hauling and sorting.

It costs $20 per ton to raise lemons for the market, so a loss of $23 per ton is sustained on 24 per cent of the crop. It therefore follows that the grower must of necessity receive $23 per ton more on 76 per cent of the crop to justify fresh fruit control.

"The total net returns the growers will receive for the 1934-1935 crop certainly will not average more than $20 per ton, which shows the futility of stabilizing the fresh fruit market only."

Need Consumption
"What is sorely needed for the benefit of the lemon grower is increased consumption. Some interesting facts here will be helpful for the proper analysis of the situation and how to solve the problem. One car of lemons represents 15 tons of fruit. This would yield the equivalent of 1,200 gallons of juice, and 20,000 cars (the total sales to date) would produce 24,000,000 gallons. The per capita consumption annually is very small as compared to vinegar, for instance. The total sales of vinegar in the United States exceed 75,000,000 gallons annually.

"It is quite evident, therefore, that the real problem for the lemon grower is increased consumption. But how to do it is the question. Inasmuch as the greatest lemon consuming season is during the hot weather, and the lemon crop does not always mature then, how can consumption and production be reconciled? Storage of the fresh lemon only partially solves the problem."

"The advent of successful new methods of canning lemon juice is proving a boon to the lemon producer. It is going to stabilize his market, increase consumption, and take care of the surpluses at prices going to make it possible to take much of the crop out of the hot weather season and make it available when consumption is at its height."

"California is in an admirable position with respect to other states in the United States. It alone raises lemons commercially. Therefore, no other state can overcome this natural advantage. Another favorable factor is a tariff on lemon juice entering the United States, of $7.0 a gallon."

"One of the most ridiculous situations now existing in the handling of surplus fruit is the fact that the Exchange plant at Corona manufactures citric acid. Before the advent of the manufacture of citric acid by fermenting sugars, citric acid sold at $4.46 a pound. It now sells at $2.28. At the present price, which no doubt will be a permanent level, the manufacturer of citric acid cannot return the grower $2 a ton—barely hauling charges. Calculated upon the value per gallon of lemon juice, this is a gross of $1.14 a gallon. Think of it, $1.14 a gallon, and the duty on lemon juice is $7.0 a gallon."

"What is sorely needed, therefore, is a concerted effort toward increasing the sale of lemon juice and not its imitator, citric acid. Further than this, the grower needs to encourage the private operator who pays him from $15 to $30 a ton for the same cull fruit for which his own by-products plant returns $5 a ton, and this only after returns from delivery date."

"It is hard to understand under what influence the grower is forced to ship his cull fruit to a by-products plant and receive $5 a ton, when he can sell to independent plants at $15 to $30 a ton. Has the grower no voice in determining where and to whom he can sell his cull fruit?"

"It will pay the wide-awake grower well to investigate what is done with his cull fruit and to demand control of this surplus, for which he now has a ready sale to independent operators, and into channels protected by federal regulation. He will receive many times the returns he now receives, and this in cash."

"SCIENCE" IS SUBJECT FOR TOASTMASTERS

Teams headed by Malcolm Macurda and E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist, known respectively as Wind-fellies, launched by Ernest S. peeted to increase attendance and punctuality in El Camino Toastmasters club. The contest was of Roy Coleman, president, said that Wooster, vice president of the club, last evening at James' cafe. Science." He attacked the Hoothis contest would take the place of a previous guessing contest.

With "Science" as the general topic, Dwight Hamilton, former president of Smedley chapter Toastmasters, conducted the program, taking the place of Ralph Smedley who introduced him.

First on the program was Wooster. His subject was "Political Science." He attacked the Hoover Republican administration, explaining later that this was somewhat in retaliation for talks made sometime ago attacking the Democrats. He accused the Republicans of having cost the nation two hundred billion dollars in lost fortunes, lost products and other losses.

Dr. R. E. Watson, who followed, said that he did not believe in science and told of many instances in which he found that scientists of recent years repudiated theories held only a few years back. He intimated that science fell considerably short of being scientific.

That taxation is a science, but that it is rarely exercised in a scientific manner was the contention of W. F. Croddy, who went briefly into taxation methods, told of his inequalities and forecast dire things for future taxation. He urged his hearers to give personal study to the matter, especially to economies which might be effected through consolidation of governmental activities.

Fred Mansur gave a graphic illustration of what science as applied to agriculture might achieve, telling of bountiful crops of tomatoes grown under artificial conditions on a small plot, asserting that the production surpassed that of an acre under usual conditions.

Critics were Gus Allen for Wooster, Ted Blanding for Watson, Roy Coleman for Croddy, W. S. Jolliffe for Mansur, and Glenn Tidball as general critic.

WIND DAMAGE AND CITRUS MARKETS

By J. A. PRIZER,

Manager Placentia Orange Growers Association

The windstorm that swept over Southern California Tuesday and Wednesday of this week has presented some serious problems of immediate importance to citrus growers, and if we are to get back money for Valencia and Navel crops in years to come, has emphasized the necessity of solving others in the near future.

The damage to trees and to next year's crops can not be minimized, but the loss suffered by the remainder of this year's crop is of immediate concern. About 25 or 30 per cent of this year's crop remained on the trees when the wind struck and the result was a heavy drop of that class of fruit. Now everybody wants to pick it up—spray it without thought of anything but the few dollars it will bring right now.

It is a natural inclination to try and save what one can out of a wreck, but before wasting good money to pick it up, let us examine the problem from all its angles.

Not Satisfactory

In the first place it is so badly damaged that it will not bring very good satisfaction on the fresh fruit market. Do you want to sell your trade and the consumer something that will rot before he can eat it? A pick-up after the wind from one of the worst damaged groves in upper Placentia produced 38 boxes per acre of so-called merchantable fruit which, after washing and grading, would probably show a cullage of 30 per cent, leaving 26 boxes of saleable fruit. It cost 10 cents per box to pick it up, 2 cents to haul it to the packing house, not less than 10 cents to wash and sort it, 6 cents to haul it to Los Angeles and 5 cents for selling, or a total of 33 cents per box.

It might bring 50 cents a box there, but with a thousand cars of similar fruit trying to get there at the same time, it will probably bring less. And when sold, unless consumed immediately, it will cause the consumer and dealer to be disgusted and turn him away from the good fruit we still have to market.

After deducting the 33 cents for costs, you have left about 17 cents per box profit—if you get a gross of 50 cents—and still have remaining on the trees some fruit of fair quality.

Nut Control Pact Starts Next Monday

Regulated marketing of Orange county walnuts will be effective on October 27, under terms of agreement which was signed this week by A. A. Brock, state director of agriculture, it was announced today.

Covering the handling of all walnuts grown in the state, the agreement includes provisions for surplus control similar to the terms of a federal agreement previously in effect, it was explained.

Under Brock's supervision, all walnuts sold or put into the channels of intra-state commerce by packers are to be graded in accordance with the pack specifications approved by the secretary of agriculture.

Order Favored

Evidence submitted at hearings showed the issuance of the order was favored by growers representing more than two-thirds of the volume of the 1934-35 pack, officials stated. It also was brought out that of the 12,326 walnut growers on the Pacific Coast, 10,415, or nearly 85 per cent, produce walnuts in California. A total of approximately 8000 acres of walnuts is under cultivation in Orange county.

Bearing acreage throughout the state has been estimated at 117,504, with a total value of $125,663. When the value of the 21,501 acres of non-bearing trees is added, the total value is placed at $13,085. The average annual value of the California walnut crop has been estimated at $10,532,250.

APPOINT HAAN NEW CHRYSLER DEALER HERE

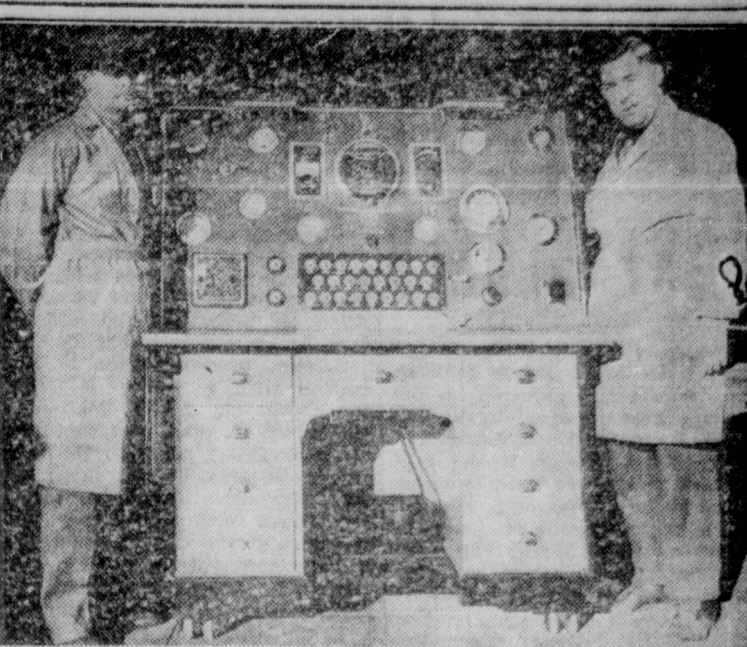

Simultaneous with the first showing of the new 1936 Plymouth line of motor cars comes the announcement from the Chrysler Motor corporation of the appointment of O. R. Haan, 505 South Main street, as Orange county distributor for Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles.

This advancement puts Mr. Haan high in line with the larger automobile distributors in Los Angeles and will mean the employment of additional men in Santa Ana to handle the greater number of automobiles with which to supply all the Chrysler and Plymouth dealers in Orange county.

Mr. Frank Woodward, district manager for the Chrysler factory, stated: "The reason for the appointment of Otto Haan as distributor for Chrysler and Plymouth motor cars is due to the fact that since Haan took on this line of cars in 1933 he has been one of the outstanding dealers in this division both from the viewpoint of number of cars delivered to owners as well as the customer satisfaction he has built up from scratch in his well equipped service department."

"Our factory is proud to be associated with the O. R. Haan organization with its fine reputation for honesty and good service in Santa Ana after 20 years of continual service and it is with such pride that we are able to appoint him as our distributor for Orange county."

The longest of all regular English words is "antidisestablishmentarianism," meaning "a doctrine of opposition to disestablishment."

A NEW MECHANICAL GENIUS

Charles M. Cramer and George C. McConnell, of the Grand Central Garage, shown in above picture, with the new automobile oil testing machine recently installed in the garage, stated today that no other similar machine in Southern California is as complete. The new machine was built to order for the Grand Central Garage, and runs the breakdown test with a regular speedometer showing the miles per hour at which coils will ordinarily break down. The testing battery is contained in the machine.

TESTIMONY IN JOHNSON WILL CASE CLOSED

"They're strangers to the blood." The heirs of H. Edgar Johnson, late Pullerton publisher, whose will has been attacked by his reputed wife, Jessie E. Johnson, of Beverly Hills, were so labeled in a dramatic plea to the court late yesterday by Mrs. Johnson's counsel, Isadore Dockweiler, as he demanded a $300 per month family allowance from the $100,000 estate for Mrs. Johnson and her daughter Beverly, 15.

Commenting bitterly upon the claim of illegality attached to the woman's marriage to Johnson, who was the percentage of the girl, Dockweiler asked: "And for whom are they to be set aside? For strangers? Strangers to the blood?"

Dockweiler acknowledged the exception of Johnson's two brothers, who were not closer to the brother than strangers, until his last illness. His charge included Mrs. Virginia Remington, of Los Angeles, who was killed $10,000 by the publisher.

Judge Not Interested

When Col. M. R. Wellington, counsel for a group of the heirs and for Special Administrator H. C. Head, sought to reply, Judge F. A. Leonard informed both sides that he was not interested in that line of argument, but only in the legal points involved. Wellington accordingly devoted himself to an attack upon the legality of the Mexican "mail order" divorce obtained by Mrs. Johnson from her first husband, Leon Engstrom, before she married Johnson, which Wellington contends automatically invalidates the Johnson marriage and deprives the woman of any claim upon the estate.

Judge Leonard took the case under advisement.

GIRL STRUCK AFTER RESISTING ADVANCE

Two Santa Ana girls were molested on the street near their homes at 12:30 a.m. today by two Mexican youths, one of them attempting to put his arm around one of the girls. Lenore Lockhart, of 426 Fruit street and striking her in the face when she pushed him away, according to a police report.

The other girl was Madeline Best of 602 Barfield street. She was not hurt.

The girls reported to officers that the Mexicans accosted them on the darkened street and made advances. The Lockhart girl was injured about the face when she could recognize the youths if they saw them again.

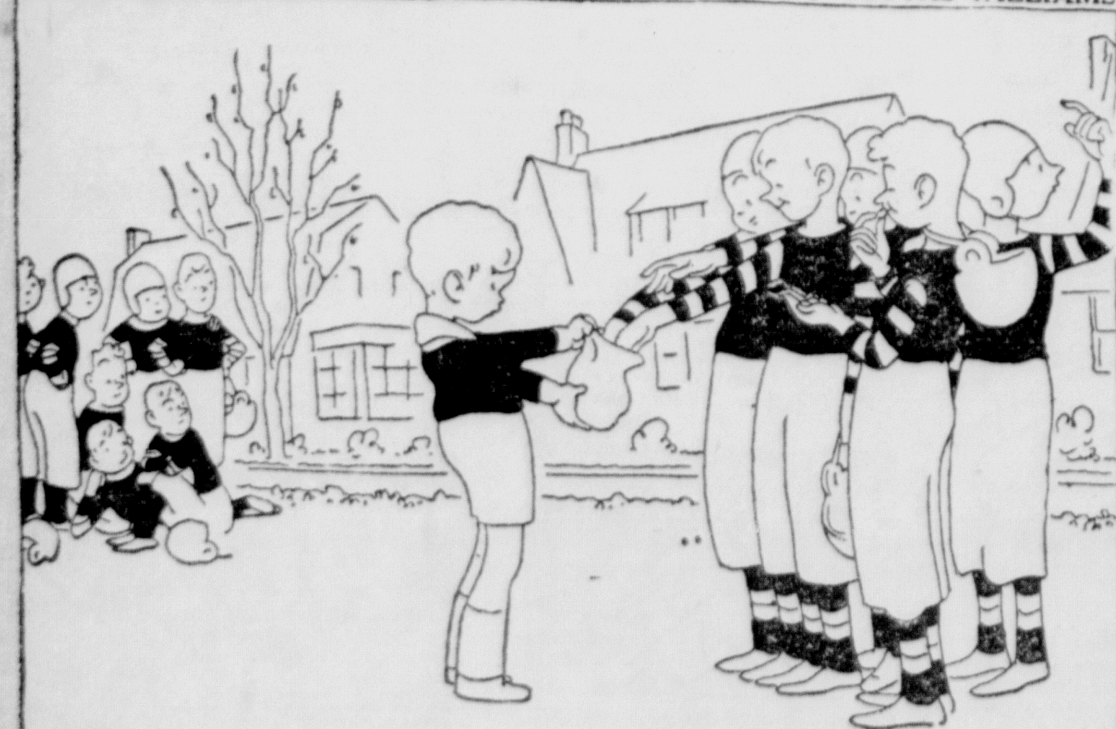

FUGITIVE ARRESTED

Jim Eastep, 21, of San Clemente, was booked at the county jail early last night on a charge that he is a fugitive from justice, wanted in Texas. He was arrested by Earl H. Moore, of the San Clemente police department, who said Eastep was wanted in the Lone Star state for a statutory offense.

ASKS PROBATION ON CHECK CHARGE

Clifford Nunally, who pleaded guilty in Orange justice court to a charge of passing a forged check for $40 to E. H. Spicer, today applied to Superior Judge James L. Allen for probation and will receive a hearing next Friday.

Delmar Morrison's case, in connection with a charge of failing to support six minor children of his family of eight, was continued today by Judge Allen to this afternoon's session, to hear testimony from Morrison's brother as to the defendant's opportunity for employment at the time he was said to have quit working.

Lorenzo Sanchez, resident of Arizona, who admitted burglary of a Santa Ana beer parlor, where several cases of beer were stolen, was granted probation for one year on condition that he make payment for the beer.

NOBLE E. WATSON DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Funeral services for Noble E. Watson, who passed away yesterday afternoon in his home, 601 East Walnut street, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Harrell and Brown funeral home.

Death came suddenly to the Santa Ana man after a few hours' illness. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl Watson, and a son, Richard of this city; one brother, Wayne Watson, San Francisco, who is expected to arrive in time for the services tomorrow; his mother, Mrs. Watson, and a sister, Mrs. Willis Parsons, both of Lovelock, Nev.

Mr. Watson had lived in Orange county for the past 20 years, and his death is mourned by a host of friends. He was born in Logan, Utah.

AUBURN WINS OVER DUKE UNIVERSITY

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Auburn Plainsmen today defeated the Duke Blue Devils, 7-0, for the first home-ground loss by Duke since 1931.

Eight thousand fans witnessed the game. Auburn blocked a Duke punt on Duke's 25-yard line and Williams, left end, scooped up the ball and ran for a touchdown. Paterson's place kick was good.

Harbor Group To Attend L. A. Meet

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 25.—President Mark J. Johnson of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce has appointed Lew H. Wallace, Capt. W. M. Brown and Darrell King to represent the harbor district before the California Fish and Game commission at a special meeting to be held in the offices of the commission in the State building in Los Angeles November 9.

Reports of the taking of large quantities of bait from waters off Orange county have been discounted by the latest information to the effect that the plan for gathering bait and taking it to Honolulu was not financially successful and that the project has been abandoned. It is expected that at the Los Angeles meeting the question of fishing licenses will be discussed and the Newport delegation is expected to represent some suggestions on this subject. The meeting is called for 10 o'clock.

SLEEPER BACK

County Assessor James Sleeper returned yesterday from Sacramento where he went to attend a meeting of the state board of equalization.

GIRL RESERVES INITIATE 25 NEW MEMBERS

High School Girl Reserves initiated 25 new members last night at recognition services conducted in First Methodist chapel under direction of Miss Mary Porter, Girl Reserve secretary for the Y. W. C. A.

Music preceding the ceremonial was provided by the Lyric String trio, composed of Beatrice Granas, pianist; Anna May Archer, vocalist; Audrey Granas, violinist. "A Call to Worship" was given by the Misses Mary Nalle, Jane Nalle and Betty Neff. Miss Maxine Knight, president of the High School group, conducted the ceremony, for which the stage was decked with flowers in the circle and triangle symbolic of the Girl Reserve organization.

Interpretation of the symbol was given by the Misses Isabel McCormac, outer circle; Helen Lowe, Dorothy Jenkins and Betty Neff, representing body, mind and spirit, which form the three sides of the triangle. Miss Marjane Belcher sang "The Quest Song."

Reception Held

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the church social hall. Among those present were Miss Mary W. Howard, Mrs. C. H. Robinson, and Miss Edna Munford, Y. W. C. A. secretaries of Santa Ana, Orange and Fullerton; Miss Lena Thomas, local Girl Reserve chairman; Miss Mabel McFadden, president of Santa Ana Y. W. C. A.; Miss Helen Hicks and Norma Area were on the refreshment committee. Decorations were in charge of the Misses Joy Townsend, Josephine White, Dorothy Jenkins, Pauline Cave, Helen Lowe, Roberta Nichols, Betty Neff, Isabel McCormac.

Girls recognized were the Misses Audrey Barnes, Violet Brown, Mary Carey, Maybelle Du Bois, Betty Frye, Madeline Gilbert, Arline Hoffman, Ida Holland, Elaine Jost, Naomi Knipe, Jackie Morrison, Helen Motley, Flora McFadden, Gerry Peck, Winifred Pettit, Frances Whitaker, Frankie Barnett, Grace McCoy, Janet Rudiman, Mary Sartor, Jane Nalle, Catherine Hall, Lucille Haskell, Lois Riggs, June Clark, Mary Young.

Dinner Arranged By Relief Corps

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 25.—At the regular meeting of the W. R. C. held in Legion hall this week plans were made for a pot luck dinner to be held November 7 at the home of Mrs. Bertha Edgerly in celebration of the 35th birthday anniversary of Mrs. E. M. Colough, a member of the corps. Announcement was made that the third of a series of card parties will be held in Legion hall Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Clara Olsen as chairman of the refreshment committee. Inspection will be held November 12. Visitors were Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Chamberlin, of Midway City, and Mrs. Gladys McDonald and Mrs. Annie Lorie, of Orange.

Pythian Sisters Form New Group

BREA, Oct. 25.—Pythian Sisters of Brea have formed a social unit known as the Pythian Friendship club. The club is to meet once each month at the home of a member and a potluck luncheon will be served. Needlework will occupy the time for the members. Among those who met recently at the home of Mrs. Paul Olmstead for the purpose of organizing the club were Mesdames C. C. Jarvis, Scott Tremaine, G. C. Folkemer, F. A. Hall, Howard Danely, Roy Wheeler, Harry Winchel, E. E. Allen, Blanche Sutcliffe, Kenneth Sutcliffe, Joe Davis, Delbert Olmstead and Dave Hearn.

Scouts To Hold District Field Meet Tomorrow

Competing for the honor of representing the Santa Ana-Tustin Boy Scout district in the big annual county-wide Jamboree on November 23 in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl, Boy Scout troops of this district will stage a district field meet tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. on the high school athletic field. It was announced today by Alvin Koenig, Scout field executive.

Every Scout troop in the district is expected to be represented at the field meet tomorrow, when many stunts will be staged with the various troops competing.

A sheepskin inscribed with the name of the winning troop will be awarded the winner at the conclusion of the afternoon's activities tomorrow, it was announced. The event will start with a grand parade and opening ceremony. Events on the program this year include several in which Cub Scouts can take part. Events scheduled include fire by friction, dressing race, put tent pitching, centipede rope race, antelope race, signaling, skin the snake and fireman's carry.

GIVE APPROVAL TO SEVEN MORE WPA PROJECTS

Seven new projects for immediate start in Orange county, at a total cost of $143,373, were approved today by WPA heads, it was announced by Frank Y. McLaughlin.

The projects, which will get under way in the immediate future, according to County Director Dan Mulherson, will employ a total of 368 men, many of them for a 12-month period.

Included are projects in Fullerton, Huntington Beach, San Clemente, Santa Ana, and two county-wide projects.

The county-wide projects include one for squirrel and pocket gopher control, the government to contribute $24,072, and the county of Orange to contribute $7532, for a total cost of $31,604. The project will be for a 12 month period, and will employ 42 men.

Attack Weed

Work is scheduled to start soon on another county-wide project, for the control of noxious weeds and pepper weevils, to employ 145 men for the entire year. The county will give $5699, and the government $47,170, for a total of $52,869.

The Santa Ana project is for the landscaping of Irvine park, at a total cost of $3003, to employ three men. The government will donate $2595, the county $500.

In Fullerton work will start immediately on the reconstruction of junior college buildings, to employ 52 men, at a total cost of $11,492. The government will give $6643, the school district $4844.

Schedule Road Work

Construction work on the Brea canyon road, in Fullerton park, will commence soon, with a total of 79 men working. The government will give $13,154, the city of Fullerton $2702, for a total cost of $15,856.

Repair work on the Huntington Beach school was included in the list of projects. Thirty-nine men will be given employment by this project, at a total cost of $20,985. The government will give $7501, the school district $12,555. A total of $7497 will be spent on the San Clemente golf course, seven men being given employment on the project. The government donation totals $3859, the city of San Clemente to give $3528.

PORT COMMITTEE TO MEET NOV. 9

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 25.—As the next step in a series of plans that will lead up to a program for the celebration of the finish of the $2,000,000 Newport harbor improvement project, a meeting of chamber of commerce members, city councilmen, Orange county supervisors and others has been arranged for November 9. Dr. Albert Solland, head of the chamber of commerce committee on arrangements, who returned recently from Washington, D. C., will preside.

Among the plans suggested by Dr. Solland is one that every port on the Pacific will be invited to have a representative present. Hundreds of yachtsmen along the coast and others maintaining pleasure craft on inland waters, are expected to attend.

Serving with Dr. Solland on the program committee are T. Higbee Embrey, George Rogers, A. B. Rousselle, J. A. Beck, R. L. Paterson, M. S. Robinson, Lew Wallace, Dr. Howard Seager, Walter Spicer, W. J. Brown, J. B. McNally, Douglas McKinnon, H. L. Sherman, George Converse, Marcus Johnson, S. A. Meyer and J. M. Webster.

ORGANIZATION OF SCOUT CLUB PACK PLANNED

Organization of a Scout club pack, made up of some 96 boys in Santa Ana between the ages of 8 and 11, which will be sponsored by the Santa Ana police department, was announced today by Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard, who will act as the executive sponsor.

The organization directed by the Boy Scouts of America, is for youths too young to join the Boy Scout movement.

W. Hunter Leach, police officer, will act as club master for the boys and an all police club committee is composed of W. H. Heard, George Boyd and J. B. Stephenson.

The boys will be taught "I am my own policeman," safety, self-reliance, courtesy and "playing the game squarely." Chief Howard said.

The youths will be formed into eight groups of 12 members each and eight older boys, to be selected from the department's former junior police force will be called den leaders.

The first meeting of the new organization will be held October 31 in the Spurgeon school at 7:30 o'clock.

Uniforms have been ordered for the boys consisting of blue trousers and shirts, purple scarves with the police emblem on them in gold, blue overalls caps with the emblem, it was reported.

The boys for the club pack will be selected on the basis of their department, school attendance and efficiency in school work, Howard said.

H. B. CREWS BEGIN CLEAN UP WORK

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 25.—City crews began work yesterday cleaning up the debris caused by this week's wind storm. The street department has several days work clearing the debris of fallen derricks from streets and also cleaning up from oil tanks which were smashed when derricks blew over from the wind. C. W. Camp lost 1000 barrels of oil when a large tank collapsed as a derrick crashed on it near Sixteenth and Ocean.

A superior steel derrick at Seventeenth and Walnut was blown over on the steel derrick. No steel derricks were blown down, but several were wrecked by collapse of adjoining derricks.

The roof on the residence of W. O. Osborn, Pacific Electric agent, was blown entirely off the house. It was a new roof, having been placed on the house less than three months ago. The residence is located in the 700 block on Frankfort street.

The double garage of Mr. and Mrs. Juliet Marshall on Ninth street at Acacia crashed down under the force of the wind.

Birthday Affair By Bible Class

BUENA PARK, Oct. 25.—Fifty class members, their families and friends attended the annual birthday party of the Love and Service Bible class Thursday evening in the Congregational church social hall.

Program numbers included the reading of the class history by Mrs. J. F. Wagg, a reading by Mrs. Grant Smith and the reading of an original poem dedicated to the class by Mrs. Birdella Watson. Community singing was held, with Mrs. F. Stanley Powles at the piano. Mrs. E. A. Kinney was in charge of the program.

A variety of games under the direction of Mrs. George Cole occupied the remainder of the evening. Executive board members were in charge of general arrangements.

The Halloween motif was used in decorating the colors extending to the various floral arrangements. Pumpkin pie with nut bread and coffee were served.

NATIONAL GIRL SCOUT WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

National Girl Scout week will be opened locally with a program to be presented in connection with Sunday morning services beginning at 8:30 o'clock in First Methodist church. It was announced today by Mrs. Arthur Ames, chairman of troop No. 4. Mrs. Ames and Mrs. E. T. McFadden, member of the Girl Scout Central committee, are in charge of arrangements for the program.

Dr. George A. Warner, pastor, will preach a sermon on "The Lane that Leads to Life." The church choir will give an anthem. Other features of the services will be conducted by the Girl Scouts, 109 of whom are expected to be present.

Jean Russick will talk on "Girl Scout Camp Activities;" Mrs. R. C. Harris will discuss "Aims of Girl Scouting;" troop members will provide special music; the girls will join in repeating the Scout pledge.

An exhibit of Scout handcraft will be on display at the church Sunday.

Another feature of Girl Scout week will be the presentation of Scout calendars to all Girl Scouts, who may receive the gifts by showing their registration cards at Hart's Drygoods store.

Scouts of troop No. 1 will bring the week's observance to a close next Saturday, November 2, by taking cookies and candy to patients in the Tuberculosis ward at Orange County hospital.

As one of their new projects, Girl Scouts of the city have assumed the responsibility of doing kindnesses for patients in the Tuberculosis ward throughout the year. Each troop will carry out some phase of the project.

EDWARD J. REILLY SUED FOR DIVORCE

WHITE PLAINS, Oct. 25.—An affidavit charging Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, with "habitual drunkenness" and "open and notorious flaunting of adulterous relationships" was filed in supreme court here today by his wife.

The affidavit was submitted to Justice Graham Witschick in the cross suit for separation begun by the Reillys. It charged that the criminal lawyer had a "brazen disregard" for his marital obligations.

Mrs. Reilly, alleging that she is the fifth wife and that all of her predecessors divorced him, denied charges in her husband's suit that she became cruel, inhuman and insulting to him after he had to go to a hospital in May, 1934.

The double garage of Mr. and Mrs. Juliet Marshall on Ninth street at Acacia crashed down under the force of the wind.

PRISONER ENDS ONE TERM; STARTS 2ND

Roy Johnson, 24, who lives in the hills near Modjeska, but who hasn't been there since August 15, when he was arrested on Santa Ana boulevard by George Boyd, city motorcycle officer on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and for having deer meat in his possession, finished a jail term today on one of the charges.

Having completed a term of 75 days on a charge of driving drunk, he was released as far as the jail counter today, but was promptly rebooked and will now serve six months longer on the deer meat charge.

Johnson was painted as a leader of a gang in the mountains shooting deer out of season and a man who continually gave game wardens and helpers trouble, when his case was heard last August in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Court Notes

Homer H. Renfro, convicted of knifing Malcolm Sheppard, of Newport Beach, in a brawl at the Tavern cafe in Sunset Beach, today withdrew his motion for a new trial and was sentenced by Superior Judge H. G. Ames to San Quentin for assault with means likely to produce great bodily harm.

The will of Andrew N. Olsen, who died September 21, leaving a $2700 estate at Barber City, was filed today for probate in superior court. The widow, Adelaide Olsen, was named sole heir.

Claude C. Hiner, who issued a fictitious prescription in violation of the state narcotic act, and is now serving a prison sentence at San Quentin, was sued for divorce today in superior court by Henriette C. Hiner. His conviction of a felony was the ground for action. The couple married in Los Angeles December 1, 1931, and separated May 8, 1933.

J. F. Coltrin, of Costa Mesa, today petitioned superior court for permission to compromise damage claims of his two daughters, Mildred, 5, and Eugenia, 4, for minor injuries they received in a traffic accident in Los Angeles October 17. A settlement of $50 for Mildred and $30 for Eugenia has been offered and Coltrin desires permission to accept it.

Police News

A. A. Edgar, tailor, of 226 North Broadway reported to the police that two pairs of trousers were stolen from his place of business during the past several days. The clothes were taken from a rack inside the shop. They were valued at $20.

TRUCK DRIVER ARRESTED ON CHECK CHARGE

If George A. Youngman, 43, truck driver of Ontario, had not arrived in his truck at the intersection of Fourth street and Broadway at exactly the precise moment he did, last Monday morning he would not have been in the Orange county jail last night.

His truck, loaded with 22 tons of cement, collided with a Pacific Electric train, causing one of the most spectacular accidents downtown Santa Ana has seen in a number of years.

Youngman escaped injury, but he did not escape being recognized, deputy sheriffs said, as a man for whom the sheriff has been seeking since 1931, on a check charge.

Soon after the accident he was arrested, and his arrest resulted last night when Deputies Robert Steinberger and James Regan caught up with him.

Merle Dean, chief criminal deputy sheriff said that the sheriff's office was under the impression the man was not in the state, having had him arrested at one time, several years ago in Wisconsin. At that time the district attorney failed to extradite him on the charge. A check in question is said to have been given to the Ryan Feed store here in 1931. It was for $15. Youngman made bail today for appearance in court. The bail was for $1500.

BANDITS SECRETLY TAKEN TO PRISON

Three bandits, each convicted on separate charges of holdup and robbery, and two of whom were declared to be the most dangerous criminals lodged in the county jail in several years, were secretly transported to San Quentin prison last night. G. F. McKelvey, deputy sheriff and Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard of Santa Ana were in charge of officers who drove the prisoners to the northern camp.

The men were Eugene Andres, 29, convicted of holding up two J. C. Penney bank messengers here in 1934, at which time $1500 in checks and cash were stolen; August Junkkeit, 27, Buena Park, convicted of holding up a Holly Sugar company truck at South Main street and the Delhi road, last year and kidnapping the driver, while a confederate stole the truck loaded with sugar, and Homer Grey, cook, of Buena Park, convicted of staging a holdup at Bay Shore, near Newport Beach, in 1934 at which time a man and his wife were bound and gagged.

SERVICE CLUB URGED TO AID PEACE PROGRAM

ORANGE, Oct. 25.—Rotarians observed the 14th anniversary of the organization of the club Thursday, with the speaker of the day the district governor, George McClelland, of Santa Barbara. A number of past presidents of the organization were present. Plans were announced for a ladies' night program October 31 at 8:30 p. m. at the Woman's clubhouse. John Steven McGroarty will be the speaker and Stanley Kurtz, of El Modena, the soloist.

Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, president, gave a brief history of the club which was organized October 27, 1921, through the efforts of Frank C. Drumm. Past presidents in attendance were F. A. Henderson, of Santa Ana; Stanley Mansur, W. O. Hart, Dr. C. S. Parker, Fred Alden, V. D. Johnson, Roy Willis, Dr. D. C. Crawford, C. H. Robinson and Don Smiley.

Other presidents to serve the club were K. E. Watson sr., and Ernest Bolinger, absent on a Utah hunting trip, and the late E. B. Collier. Henderson made a short talk in behalf of the past presidents. The club now has 83 members, starting with 20. Dr. B. E. Garrison, of Riverside, sang several solos.

District Governor McClelland urged Rotarians to take part in a constructive international program aiding in establishing world peace, pointing out that the organization, through its affiliation of business and professional men the world over, was particularly fitted for this task. REVIVAL SERVICES TO CLOSE SUNDAY

ORANGE, Oct. 25.—Evangelistic services which have been in progress at the Free Methodist church for the past three weeks will be brought to a close Sunday night, according to an announcement made today by the pastor, the Rev. James B. Abbott. Services are conducted by Mrs. Lillian Abbott, associate pastor of the Los Angeles Pacific College church.

Three more services will be held one tonight at 7:30 o'clock, one Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and the last Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Abbott will speak on "The Secret of Being" in the morning and on "Two Appointments" at the closing service. Large congregations are expected to be present at the final meetings.

DATE TREE FALLS

VILLA PARK, Oct. 25.—One of two date palm trees at the Billingsley place at Villa Park was broken off 10 feet above the ground during the recent storm. The palms bore crops of dates each year, sometimes as much as 400 pounds being harvested annually. The tree was 50 feet in height. There are about six date palms in the county.

HOLD LAST RITES
FOR H. B. OIL MAN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 25.—Funeral services for Lee West, 72, who died here Wednesday, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Dixon mortuary in Huntington Beach. The Rev. James G. Hurst officiated, with interment following in Westminster Memorial park.

Mr. West was a pioneer Southern California oil man, and an active worker in the field for the past 39 years. He was well known in oil circles in Long Beach, Santa Fe Springs, Huntington Beach and other Southern California points.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth West, Huntington Beach, and two brothers, James West, Huntington Beach, and Martin West, Santa Ana.

Those present were Mrs. James Whitelock, Mrs. Lambert Vandenberg, Mrs. Earl Woodward, of San Gabriel; Mrs. Benjamin Vandenberg, Mrs. Arthur Spear, Mrs. J. W. Karnes, Mrs. Marvin Seelock, of Tujunga, and the hostess.

noon spent in visiting and sewing.

STINSON'S HORSES
WIN THIRD PLACE

ORANGE, Oct. 25.—E. G. Stinson, of this city, who entered a six-horse team of Belgians in the competition for six-horse hitch at the American Royal Livestock and Horse show at Kansas City, Mo., was awarded third place last night. The show closes tomorrow.

Building Totals For Month Gain

ORANGE, Oct. 25.—An upward trend in building operations was revealed in building permits issued the past 30 days. Records of Frank Dale, building inspector, show the same number of permits, 35, issued this month as last month, with the total for this month $17,924 and last month $5647.

Last year's total to date was $66,938, and this year's is $69,009. While there is little difference in the totals for the year to the present date year and last year, Dale pointed out that last October a permit was issued for the erection of the Orange Union High school stadium at a cost of $25,000 and during the present month building permits represent repair work and remodeling with construction work started on two new dwellings, one by Ross Stuckey, 377 South Parker street at a cost of $4500 and one by William Ruff, 1044 East Palmyra avenue, at cost $3500.

DEER SCARCE IN IDAHO

BOISE, Ida., (UP)—Idaho deer hunters face a poor season, in the opinion of Guy B. Mains, supervisor of Boise National Forest, who returned from a tour of the woods. "I saw only one deer on the 700-mile trip," said Mains. "That's something of a record. Usually there are dozens."

TEMPERS JUDGMENT

NEVADA, Mo., (UP)—The city council planned to impeach Police Judge Maddox for dereliction of duty. Councilmen changed their minds when they found a special election would be too expensive.

DIRECTORS NAMED BY KIWANIS CLUB

LA HABRA, Oct. 25.—La Habra Kiwanians abolished the office of vice president and elected their board of directors at their meeting Wednesday night. In the absence of the president, the immediate past president will serve according to the new rule. From the board of directors, at the next meeting will be chosen the president for the coming year, and the secretary will be appointed later by the new board.

Those elected to serve on the board are A. C. Earley, C. Jack Zinn, Dr. H. L. Stone, Earl Wilson, J. R. Allison, E. B. Demarest, Dr. B. H. Guthridge and Joe Sevens. There was a tie between E. R. Berry and M. B. Douth for the board and the ninth director will be chosen at the next meeting. Installation ceremonies for the new officers will be held early in January.

HOLD FUNERAL OF
MRS. MARY WEISS

ORANGE, Oct. 25.—Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Marie Weiss, 63, of Fairhaven avenue, who passed away Tuesday morning. A prayer service at the Shannon Funeral home was followed by services at St. John's Lutheran church, the Rev. Kenneth L. Ahl, assistant pastor, officiating. Congregational singing was accompanied by E. E. Wunderlich at the organ.

Funeral services were held at the organ, Walter Hauck, John Eggers, E. C. Amling, Carl Schumacher and Walter Leichtfuss. Interment was made in St. John's Lutheran cemetery.

Mrs. Weiss is survived by her husband, E. K. Weiss; two sons, Paul Weiss and Walter Weiss, of Orange; her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Traub, of Los Angeles; three sisters, Mrs. Walter Helbig, of Comstock, Wis.; Mrs. Raymond Young, of Burbank, and Miss Frieda Traub, of Los Angeles; and eight brothers, G. Traub, of North Hollywood; C. A. Traub, of Los Angeles; Lorenz Traub, of Venice; Louis Traub, of San Leandro; William Traub, of Chicago; John Traub, of Henning, Minn.; Fred Traub, of Glendale; and Paul Traub, of Orlando, Fla.

SPORTS WHIRLIGIG: NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Light baseball had its most successful summer here since 1931. The 50 National league and four playoff games played at the Municipal Bowl drew, in round numbers, 21,000 spectators. Receipts grossed $4884. These figures are taken from the official report of City Auditor Lloyd Banks. . . . The Santa Ana club's share, however, was only $3500, since most of the intra-league series money went to other teams. . . . It took $2200 to operate the club, Banks' report reveals. Biggest outlet was for transportation, ticket sellers, gate-men, umpires and like expenses. This amounted to $618. The city's rental fee was $556. Uniforms, shoes and supplies cost $424. Managers' salary, league fees, commission expenses, medical fees, laundry and insurance consumed the rest.

Loyola's Tom Lieb and Arizona's "Tex" Oliver had words before and after their game at Gilmore stadium last week. It was over the color of jerseys. Loyola switched from blue to red at half-time. . . .

The man behind the checkbook for the "Dizzy" Dean ball game at Wrigley Field Sunday is Billy Feistner, the Long Beach night club impresario. It is understood Feistner guarantees Dean $1500 for his end alone. . . .

George Ashman, pressman for The Register, says his brother used to confound all opponents when he played high school football in Kansas. Brother Ashman lost a leg in a train accident as a child but was unusually active despite the handicap of a wooden limb. When rival blockers dashed at Ashman they always got the worst of it because Ashman let 'em block his wooden leg. . . .

Citrus junior college, the little school that extracted the joy out of life for Santa Ana last week is located at Azusa. The town of Azusa got its name in a peculiar manner. They took the first and last letter of the alphabet, added USA. . . .

Sylvia's King is knocking 'em dead again up at El Cerrito dog track near Frisco and keeping his elderly owner, Mrs. Sarah Ellis of Costa Mesa, in coffee and pan-cakes. . . . Mrs. Ellis announced that she has sent for five pups, bred by Sylvia's King and whelped out of Juvina, a coursing champion, and the young greyhounds will arrive within 24 hours at El Cerrito. They will be schooled immediately and started on their racing careers before another week passes. . . .

"Slip" Madigan's actual salary is 700 a month which he gets ten months a year. Madigan will take a cut next year. . . . or else. . . .

What ever became of that "Texas Star" who was going to do wonderful things for Santa Ana this year? He made the headlines and got a job with the fire department, then disappeared. . . .

Art Strancke was the best back on the 1934 Trojan frosh squad but Howard Jones can't see him for the varsity. So Strancke wastes away with the Spartans while Probat keeps fumbling and Howard misses his blocking assignments for the first team. And where is Ray Brown, the best tackle ever sent out of the Orange County league? Don't ask me. The Anaheim youth is still on the squad but sees no action. . . .

The most surprising and also successful sports promotion of the summer was Don Park's miniature golf course at Bush and Third streets. Nobody gave him a chance but Park revived interest to such an extent that he bought himself an automobile with the summer's profits. A combination of warm weather and "popular prices" turned the trick. . . . Five years ago the city was alive with midget golf but only the early birds got the worm. . . .

Sorry he won't there to help Oregon State upset U. S. C. in football, Jim Daneris plans to return to Corvallis in January and have a try for the U. S. Olympic team as a javelin-waffer. Jim will use up his year of eligibility in football next fall. . . .

Junior college football receipts can hardly miss eclipsing an all-time record in Santa Ana this season. The Dons' first five games grossed $2631.41, an average of $526.28. . . . The opener against Pasadena was good for $300.24. The Pomona Joust drew $437.35. Then the Santa Ana team jumped into the big money class with the Trojan frosh doing $611.43, Riverside $648.39 and Citrus $634.00. . . . Last year the Dons set an all-time mark with grand gross of $4912.06 of which $1724.10 was aggregated from the Thanksgiving Day classic at Fullerton. . . .

The college is a mile ahead of the '34 figure for the Citrus and Riverside engagements. Playing at Azusa, Santa Ana and Citrus drew only $89.70 last fall. At Riverside the total take was only $204.10. . . . Yes, the Dons like night football. . . .

Because he was "fed up" on golf and couldn't step up to a tee without somebody checking up on his score, Don Kennedy, Southern California junior champion and the most promising player ever to come along here, went out for football at Santa Ana high school. There was warring of heads, many doubting if a golfer of the kid's possibilities should risk arm or shoulder injuries. . . . But Kennedy was out for a lark, anything to forget the fair-ways. . . . They laughed when he reported; then their smiles changed to admiration, as the ads say. . . . From the govt team, Don moved up to the second string. This week Coach Bill Foote promoted the golfer to the first team. . . .

Kennedy's long arms and legs are abnormally strong, highly developed on the golf range. All he needs to be a high class footballer is about 25 pounds. He has the frame now, soaring up to 6'2. The avoirdupois will come. . . . So poor Don, who wanted to escape the pitiless publicity of the golf course, finds he's back in the public eye again. . . .

'WEE WILLIE' NEXT WRESTLING CHAMP?

Is "Wee Willie" Davis, the 247-pound six-foot-four giant from West Virginia destined to supplant "Man Mountain" Dean as the "Boogaboo Man" of West Coast matdom? . . .

Those on the fringe of wrestling's select circle seem to see the fine hand of matdom's master showman, "Cowboy" Toots Mondt, deftly matching the West Virginia grappler so as to bring him into a position of world challenger. . . . For one thing they say Davis really can wrestle, although like other roughers of the mat he resorts to anything but science as he belabors opponents, finally crushing them like a steamroller laying a pavement. . . .

Wednesday night Davis crushed Al Esigiano at Los Angeles and last Monday night easily put "Wild Bill" Hoodahan, the former fighter, on his shoulders here. . . . This coming Monday night the giant from Virginia returns to the Orange County Athletic club to meet powerful Frank Von Mohr, former Los Angeles police-fireman champion. They clash in a one-fall to a finish match. . . .

Steve Strelch returns to meet the Masked Marvel in the special event while Casey Kazanjian, former Stanford guard, opens the show against Davis' brother-Nelson Davis. The latter weighs 240 and is making his first appearance in this section. . . .

Another finish match will be signed today. Promoter Sam Sampson announced. . . .

BRUNDAGE HELD 'INSINCERE OR MISINFORMED'

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Thirty leaders of national organizations and institutions with more than 20,000,000 adherents demanded today that the United States withdraw from the 1936 Berlin Olympic Games. . . .

Some accused Brig. Gen. Charles H. Sherill, member of the International Olympic committee, and President Avery Brundage of the Amateur Athletic union of "vicious and untrue" statements in opposing the boycott. . . .

In formal statements and letters to Brundage and Sherill, the opponents of participation said both were insincere or misled when they said the German government is not practicing racial or religious discrimination against potential Olympic athletes. . . .

The protestants made a particular issue of charges by Sherill that an American minority of Jews is making a tempest in a teapot and by Brundage that opposition to American participation in the games comes from Communists. . . .

A statement carrying signatures of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany; Charles S. MacFarland, secretary emeritus of the Federal Council of Churches, and others said: . . .

"We who are not Jews desire to make it as clear as possible that we do not regard this as a Jewish question. It is an American question. We know that in Nazi Germany, which has by decree robbed all non-Aryans, Jewish or Christian, of citizenship rights, there can be no fair play in the arrangement of the Olympics. . . .

Other signatories of the statement included Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, New York; the Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown, Evanston, Ill.; Carrie Chapman Catt; Dean E. W. Chubb of Ohio university; Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York; John Ryder, Boston college track coach; Jack Shea, former Olympic champion; John C. Futrell, University of Arkansas president, and Paul Hutchinson, editor of the Christian Century. . . .

Running true to form, the powerful Latter Day Saints' basketball team steam-rolled the Christian Missionary Alliance into early submission at the Y. M. C. A. last night and became the ranking favorite to win the Santa Ana Church league championship. . . .

As nearly as could be ascertained from the account of an harassed scorekeeper, the county was 52-12. . . .

The ledger-keeper also had a hectic time in the "track meet" between the South Methodists and the Church of the Nazarene in which the M. E. South quietest scored as it pleased. The score was approximately 79-18. . . .

BEWHISKERED TECH TEAM MEETS LIONS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(UP)—A whiskey band of gridsters from Texas Technological institute were keyed and ready for an inter-sectional game with the Loyola Lions at Gilmore stadium here tonight. . . .

It will be a clash of modified Notre Dame systems, for both Pete Cawthon, coaching the visitors, and Tom Lieb of Loyola, follow the Rockne style of play. . . .

The Texas boys were surprised at interest in their stubby boards, explaining it's an old Tech custom to encase razors before an important game, which appeared to be a compliment to the Lions. . . .

The Loyola team should be in better shape than at any time this year with Hank Sartoris, highly touted backfield ace, leading a return of injured men to the lineup. Sartoris has been out most of the season. . . .

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Revenge was in the air to-day as Pacific Coast football teams moved toward Saturday battle-fields. . . .

More than mere ancient rivalry will actuate the performances of the young athletes in at least two games—the all-important clash between Washington and Stanford. . . .

The men of Berkeley are unbeaten and unscored upon for five games. They have exhibited a lot of latent power, which if turned loose, conceivably could give the men of Troy their worst defeat of all time. . . .

U. C. L. A. meanwhile will strive to keep its record clean at the expense of Oregon. The dope says the Bruins can do it, upsetting the result of their last meeting, won by the Webfeet. . . .

Up in the northwest, Idaho and Montana battle for the doubtful honor of finishing in the conference cellar. . . .

Washington State and Oregon State tangle at Portland in a game between two teams seeking to redress battered seasons and get a new start. . . .

In San Francisco a crippled Santa Clara team, twice beaten, should prove strong enough to set back the Portland university team Gene Murphy directs. . . .

Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific gridlers will be in Reno seeking their first victory of the year. Nevada's strength indicates the Staggmen will have to play hard to get the win. . . .

Friday (today) and Sunday games also are on the schedule. Tonight Loyola of Los Angeles plays Texas Tech, Sunday U. S. F. and St. Mary's tangle in an annual scrap that produces real football. . . .

Grid Game Gambling Heaviest Since Crash

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Football betting this season is the heaviest since the 1929 stock market crash, with between 10 to 15 million dollars being risked on games throughout the country each weekend. . . .

If wagering continues at the present pace, the total turnover for the 1935 campaign on national basis should hit $75,000,000, according to Ryan and Company, Wall street commission brokers. . . .

The participants are divided into three classes, each of which is expected to contribute $25,000,000 to the total before the season ends. . . .

One class is composed of bettors who wager through agents operating on a commission basis. In many cases these bettors maintain accounts and spread bets over several games which offer choice odds. . . .

A second group is made up of college alumni, students and those persons having a direct interest in one team and who wager among themselves. . . .

COAST SCRIPES LIKE 'OLD TIME' GOLFERS RETURN TO FAIRWAY

(By United Press) It's Washington over Stanford in the Pacific Coast's big game this week end in the opinion of western sports editors and football writers polled by the United Press. . . .

Eleven of the dozen polled picked the Huskies to defeat the twice-champions of the Western slope. One lone vote was cast in behalf of the crippled Cardinals. . . .

By a similar margin—11 to 1—the football experts selected U. C. L. A. to defeat Oregon. By a vote of 10 to 2 they favored California to wallop the S. C. Trojans. . . .

Those who participated in the poll included Owen Merrick, San Francisco News; Ralph Bell, Oakland Tribune; Neil Swain, Long Beach Sun; Nelson Fisher, San Diego Sun; Ed Orman, Fresno Bee; Bill Henry, Los Angeles Times; Sid Ziff, Los Angeles Herald-Express; Gene Coughlin, Los Angeles Post Record; Bob Cronin, Los Angeles News; Pete Antonich, Seattle Star; George Varnell, Seattle Times; Ed Jones, Portland Journal. . . .

Their vote on other games scheduled west of the Rockies this week end follows: Washington State 9, Oregon State 2; St. Mary's 10, U. S. F. 1; Santa Clara 3, Portland University 0; Montana 10, Idaho 1; College of Pacific 4, Nevada 2; Loyola 3, Texas Tech 0; Gonzaga 2, Washington 1; Whitman 3, La Grande 0; Whittier 3, San Diego 2; Occidental 3, Redlands 3; Santa Barbara 2, Laverne 1; Pacific 2, Albany 1. . . .

BOXING STEALS MAT'S THUNDER ON LEGION BILL

Four fast boxing bouts stole the show from two wrestling matches at the Orange County Athletic club last night when the second "mixed" boxing-wrestling program in the county in two years was held under auspices of Fullerton American Legion post as a Christmas charity event. . . .

In the main event of the wrestling card, the giant "Masked Marvel" who opposed the Boston rougher, Pat Fraley, repeated his performance of a week ago by stalking from the ring after clowning about with the Irish before a one of the three scheduled falls had been made. Fraley tossed the black-hooded "marvel" almost in the press row before the unknown decided he had had enough and was tired of Fraley's attempts to pull off his sinister-appearing headgear. . . .

Daniels Loses First Match Bull Montana, former moving picture beauty, refereed the two wrestling matches. Dapper Danny Daniels, O. C. A. C. timekeeper, stepped on the mat with Steve Strelch, the latter winning with a body slam after 9-1-2 minutes of tusseling. Danny lost the match after nearly knocking himself out when the "Terrible Swede" escaped over him as Danny tried to ram Strelch with his head. . . .

Lupe LeMon, Fullerton lightweight, eked out a close decision over colored Art Johnson of Los Angeles in the feature four-round event. Johnson had the edge in the early part of the battle but LeMon came back to win by a slight margin in his first fight in several weeks. LeMon came out on top in a four-round slugfest. . . .

On one of the finest exhibitions of boxing at the highway arena in some time, Little Chief Lopez, local boy, shellacked the former Huntington Beach range burner Vasquez, Los Angeles, in the main event. After three rounds of clever boxing by both bantams, the Chief came out like a whirlwind to make a gory mess of Vasquez's face in the final frame. He knocked Vasquez clear out of the ring, but the game kid was back at the count of nine to try again. . . .

Sanchez Wins Slugging Bee Jess Sanchez, who always makes a good fight, and colored Charlie Woods put on the kind of a match that the fans go for. Both batters stood toe to toe most of the time, exchanging hard smashes. Sanchez could take it better than the colored boy, who went down for a 10-count in the third after being knocked almost through the ropes in the second. The bell saved him. . . .

Clever Don Benzor of Anaheim won an unpopular decision from a hard-hitting colored youth from Los Angeles, Clover Wilson, who lost the fight because he persisted in holding Benzor with one hand and mauling him with the other. Benzor was knocked down in the first round, and fought more cautiously after that. Referee Frank McDonald gave Benzor the nod. . . .

Arthur Hillabold of Fullerton Legion post thanked the fans for their support of the charity event last night. . . .

GRIMM TO PAY $200 FINES FOR PLAYERS

NORMANDY, Mo., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Charlie Grimm, manager of the Chicago Cubs, said he would be glad to pay the fines assessed against three of his players in connection with disturbances in the world series as a result of decisions made by Umpire George Moriarty. . . .

Commissioner Kenesaw Landis assessed Bill Jurgens, Woody English and Billy Herman $200 fines as a result of arguments with the umpire in the third and fifth games. . . .

"I'll not permit the players to pay the fines," Grimm said. "The boys were only doing their best for me. They have spirit and were fighting hard in that series. We were within our rights in condemning Moriarty for the decisions we believed wrong. Why should we be silent or allow anyone to break our spirit?" . . .

Mrs. Jack Colburn was a double winner on the Santa Ana course yesterday. She won medal play with a 96-16-80 and also a blind-hole event with scores of 4, 5, 3 and 5 on Holes No. 4, 8, 14 and 15. . . .

Other medal winners: Mrs. J. K. McDonald, 88-15-83; Mrs. J. L. McPadden, 91-14-87; Mrs. Roy Langley, 106-19-87. Mrs. McPadden's 5-4-4-3 was second in the blind hole tourney. . . .

THE TWYMITES

The big balloon bag awayed around as, slowly, it rose from the ground. "Oh this is fun," cried Goldy. "Soon we'll be away up high."

"I'll crane my neck for all I'm worth to watch the things below, on earth. The fields look just like checkerboards when you're up in the sky."

"Say, I would hate to fall from here. I'd be the end of me, I fear," said Duncy. "Let me in the middle. I'll feel safe, you see."

"When I look down, I lose my head, so I guess I'll look up, instead. It's funny how just gazing makes you dizzy as can be."

The old balloon man smiled and cried, "A bird has hopped in by my side. I guess he wants a long ride, too. This likely is a thrill."

Then Dotty stroked the bird and he seemed just as tickled as could be. Said Dotty, "He is tired of flying. He has had his fill."

PAGENKOPP TO SHOW NEW TIRE TO CUSTOMERS

Automobile owners of this section are keenly interested in the new fatigue-proof tire being displayed by Pagenkopp's Super Service, local Kelly-Springfield dealers.

W. H. Keaton states that more is claimed for this new product than for any type of tire he has ever handled.

"But," adds Mr. Keaton "the reputation of the Kelly-Springfield Tire company, with its 41 years of experience in tire-making, is back of all these claims and I'll stake my standing in this community that they are true."

"For more than a year they worked on a plan of construction which would achieve that goal; and I think they have it in the new tires."

Here are the six big features of the fatigue-proof as outlined by Mr. Keaton:

(1) Corkscrew cotton—A Kelly-Springfield discovery, far kinkier than ordinary cotton, which grips and holds and when woven into cord fabric is almost indestructible.

(2) Gum-infused plies—Forty per cent greater adhesion than in ordinary tires.

(3) Prime first rubber—There are five grades of rubber. Only the prime first is bought by Kelly-Springfield tires.

(4) Vitalized rubber treads—Bigger, deeper and thicker treads are made possible by new vulcanizing agents and a new secret process, giving 20 per cent more mileage than the best former records.

(5) All non-skid—The new fatigue-proof tires in comparison with other leading makes, after actual tests, are 95 per cent more non-skid than competitor A, 130 per cent over competitor B, 230 per cent over competitor C, and 300 per cent over competitor D.

(6) Made to Monitor system and mountain tested—A new monitor system controls every particle of material, every process, insuring uniformity throughout.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By DAN THOMAS, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25. — No matter how many tough breaks come her way, pretty blond Evelyn Knapp always bobs back into the picture again. The first time

I met Evelyn she was in a hospital recovering from a broken back she sustained while hiking in the hills with her brother.

But the broken back set her back a long ways.

Then, just as she was getting nicely started again, Warners released her from her contract. For months she tried without success to find work and it looked as if she were out of things again.

But she wouldn't give up. Now she's back again, having just finished the feminine lead in "Ladies Love Excitement."

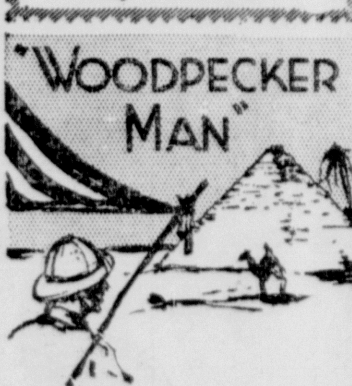

Incidentally, there's a good story behind Evelyn's recent marriage to Dr. George A. Snyder. She went to Snyder to see if he could tell her some way to put on weight. He did. And after he had fattened her up about 20 pounds, he married her.

Looks as if Warner Brothers will be first under the wire with a picture based on the actual Italian-Ethiopian war. Laird Doyle, the studio's ace scenarist, has just returned from Ethiopia where he spent two months gathering authentic data for the film.

No Time for Breath
Joseph Calleia has been going like wildfire since he was imported from New York about six months ago. As soon as he finishes "Riff-Raff," his third picture so far, he will go right into "The Getaway" with Jackie Cooper as his partner.

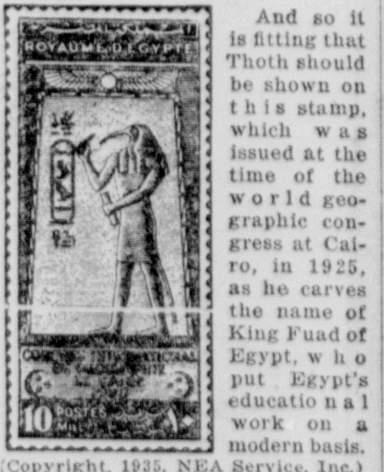

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

WOODPECKER MAN

To young stamp collectors, Thoth, this-headed scribe of the gods, measurer of time and inventor of numbers, is best known as the "woodpecker man." He was god of wisdom and magic, mouthpiece of the other gods and arbiter of their disputes. In the judgment hall of Osiris he is represented as weighing the heart or soul.

And so it is fitting that Thoth should be shown on this stamp, which was issued at the time of the world geographic congress at Cairo, in 1925, as he carves the name of King Fuad of Egypt, who put Egypt's educational work on a modern basis. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

All-Electric Cooking School Planned

SET NOVEMBER 6, 7 AND 8 AS SCHOOL DATES

All roads will lead to the American Legion hall in Santa Ana on November 6, 7 and 8 where the new Register all-electric cooking school will be held, it was announced today. Doors will open at 12 noon and the great cooking school will start each afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Record-breaking crowds are expected at this new and modern school of cookery. Each afternoon entertaining and informative programs will hold the attention of the audience every minute of the course.

Three phases of each session will interest every woman in attendance—the demonstrations themselves, the display of electric cooking equipment, and the free prizes which will be given away. Each division would make an outstanding event in itself, and in combination offer a program that is outstanding and wholly delightful. A different cooking lecture, with free recipes, will be presented each afternoon.

Demonstrate New Dishes

In charge of the all-electric cooking school will be Miss Pauline Edwards, nationally recognized home economist, who promises to bring to her listeners many new fall and winter dishes, so much in the minds of those interested in cookery at the present time. Miss Edwards will use an electric range, refrigerator and other electrical appliances in the preparation of the food, and her demonstrations will present the efficiency of all electrical facilities.

"Few things can contribute more to a home-woman's happiness than modern kitchen equipment," Miss Edwards comments. "An electric range practically takes the 'work' out of housework, making meal preparation so easy that it is no longer a task but a delight. Electric cookery is easy, fast, economical, clean—it is everything a woman wants in kitchen service."

AVERAGE COST TOLD

Citrus labor used in cultivating, irrigating, team expense, team hire, tractor hire, pruning and tree care, in 1933 averaged $42 per acre, according to determinations of the markets expansion department, Mutual Orange distributors. This was exclusive of the grove owner's labor, and labor used in fertilizing, fumigating, spraying and cultural work. On a total acreage basis, the total expenditure for this type of labor in 1933 would approximate $10,000,000.

Show Relics Of Ethiopia To Children

Affording school children of Huntington Beach an opportunity to become better informed than most adults on Ethiopia, its geography, customs, mode of living and weapons in use, Miss Elsie Chambers, supervisor of the visual education department of the elementary school, Huntington Beach, has on display a collection of Ethiopian articles.

The collection was brought to the beach city by a relative of L. J. Stearns, who for many years has been a missionary in Africa.

Weapons Displayed

Included in the exhibit are a battle axe from the Mozambique tribe, much like those in use in the Italo-Ethiopian war; war drums of the Baluba tribe in Central Congo; swords from the Ankole tribe; bows and arrows of the Chokwe tribe; and others from the Belgian Congo, Assai, or native spears, from the south Congo, and many weapons from the Mashai, Rhodesta and Nyassaland districts.

The exhibit is a part of the unusual work being done by the visual education department of the beach schools. An entire end of the ground floor of the new school building has been devoted to the department.

Exhibits in Cabinets

Walls are lined with cabinets which contain exhibits of many kinds. Collections are included from Mexico, Japan, Philippine Islands, India, Arabia, Persia, Central America, South America and Norway.

Included are displays of products of all principal countries, such as rubber, leather, wood, spices, tea, coffee, linen cotton, wool, soap, oil, rope, macaroni, peanut butter, baking powder, syrups, aluminum, silk brooms, firearms and ammunition, breakfast cereals, nuts, iron and steel, and a complete collection of minerals and ores.

The department also has 400 rolls of educational films, and its own dark room, where the films are developed. Many excursion trips are taken to nearby cities, industries and farms and museums by children in the department, during the school year.

Charles Warmer On Debate Team

STOCKTON, Oct. 25.—Charles Warmer, former student at the Santa Ana high school and Junior college, will be one of three debaters representing the College of the Pacific when the 1935-36 season will be opened officially October 27 against San Quentin prison.

Warmer, a veteran from Professor Dwayne Orton's outstanding forensic squad of 1934, is now enrolled at Pacific as a senior, majoring in the department of Speech and Economics.

COLLEGE YEAR BOOK AWARDED HIGH HONORS

First class honor rating has been awarded Del Anco, Santa Ana Junior college yearbook by the National Scholastic Press association, it was announced today by George B. Holmes, advisor of the publication.

All-American rating, the highest given to any books, was awarded to only two annuals in the junior college and normal schools division. They were Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., and University of Idaho, Pocatello, Idaho.

Other schools awarded first class honor rating are Chaffey junior college, Ontario; Modesto junior college, Modesto; Los Angeles junior college, Los Angeles; San Bernardino Jaycee, San Bernardino; Pasadena junior college; Santa Monica Jaycee, Santa Monica; Compton junior college and Riverside junior college were awarded second class ratings.

Yearbooks are scored on the basis of plan of book and theme, organizations of various sections, editing and makeup, and mechanical consideration. Jack Pegues, this year attending the University of Southern California on a journalism scholarship, and Charles Downie, now enrolled in the department of Journalism at the University of Missouri, were co-editors of the winning book.

Edna Wilson has been appointed editor-in-chief of Del Anco for the coming year. Other members of the staff will be selected soon.

TESTS FOR U. S. CIVIL SERVICE JOBS PLANNED

The United States Civil Service commission, through its district secretary, Frank Cannon, Santa post office, has announced open competitive examinations as follows:

Entomologist (physiology), $3800 a year; assistant entomologist, $2600 a year (man and animal); assistant entomologist (plant disease and transmission), $2600 a year; assistant physiologist (agriculture), $3500 a year; Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Department of Agriculture.

Associate special writer, $3200 a year; associate special writer and exhibits designer, $3200 a year; assistant special writer, $2600 a year; assistant special writer and exhibits designer, $2600 a year; Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.

COOKING SCHOOL EXPERT

Miss Pauline Edwards, below, nationally known kitchen expert, who will be in charge of the great Register all-electric cooking school which will open in the Legion hall here November 6 for a three-day session. Modern time saving and economical phases of cookery will be discussed by the kitchen expert during the school classes, which will be held in the afternoons.

Highway engineer-economist, various grades, $2600 to $4800 a year, bureau of public roads, department of agriculture. Certain education and experience are required for all these examinations.

Full information may be obtained from Cannon, at his offices in the Santa Ana post office, it was announced.

BOYS SET UP LIBRARY

SILVERTON, Ore. (UP)—Evans Valley, a tiny community, now has a library. Sheldon, Elmer and Harold Johnson, 19, 8 and 10, had more books than most of the other boys, so they built a shack, painted "library" all over it, and set up in business loaning books and magazines at 2 cents for 10 days.

DEAN TO GIVE RUSSIA TALKS ON RADIO HERE

Calvin C. Flint, Santa Ana Junior college dean of men, will give a series of four broadcasts over radio station KREG under the auspices of the "Minute Men" of Santa Ana Post 131 of the Legion, at 7:15 o'clock each Monday evening, beginning October 28, it was announced today.

The first three of his talks will cover conditions in Soviet Russia, the effect of propaganda, and the reason Russian people are Communist, and the treatment afforded tourists. His final talk will be on the subject of American neutrality, and why it is especially important today.

Qualified Speaker

Flint, who is an instructor in international relations and the industrial history of Europe, is a qualified speaker on his subjects. He holds A. B. and A. M. degrees, and is studying for his Ph. D. degree during the summer months at the Paris Sorbonne, under Dr. Renouvin.

He has traveled in Europe almost every year since 1928 and has been in practically every country in Europe. The time he has spent there would be equivalent to a four years' residence. He was in Russia last summer, and also taught for a year at Robert's College, Istanbul, Turkey. He also has toured Africa, it was said.

JAYCEE Y. M. TO BE REVIVED MONDAY

Meeting Monday, the Santa Ana Junior college Y. M. C. A. will reopen its activities after several years of inactivity. The organization is being reorganized at the request of approximately 30 college men who signed a petition asking that such a move be made.

The meeting Monday night is being called by Acting-President Paul Christ, sophomore student. Christ announced that the first gathering will be devoted entirely for plans for reorganization and future activities.

Advisor for the society will be Herbert Thomas, new assistant secretary at the Y. M. C. A. The advisorship was formerly in the hands of L. L. Beeman, Horace W. Scott and E. M. Nealley, instructors at the junior college.

The meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building at 7:30 p. m.

Democratic Dinner Is Postponed

A get-together dinner, planned by the Young Men's Democratic Club of Orange county, which was to have been held in Anaheim on the evening of October 29, has been indefinitely postponed, according to an announcement made today by Sam Long, secretary.

Conflicting dates with another big Democratic party in Los Angeles forced the local organization to step aside for the time being, it was reported.

A number of Democratic leaders of the state were expected to come to Orange county to address the meeting and tickets had been placed on sale for the dinner.

50,000 PERSONS EMPLOYED

More than 50,000 persons are engaged in the production of oranges and grapefruit in the United States, according to a study being made by the markets expansion department of Mutual Orange distributors. These two combined are the second most important crop produced in the United States, it was revealed. States producing them, in approximate order of volume, are California, Florida, Texas, Arizona, Puerto Rico, Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi.

STUDENTS AT JAYCEE READY FOR DEBATES

Preparing for participation in the first round of Eastern division junior college debates, seven students in the argumentation course are working on questions for the debates, according to Robert S. Farrar, instructor.

Members of the class are Kenneth Stowell and Gordon Bishop, Orange; Bessie Burles, Long Beach; Morris Christy, Maxwell, Iowa; and Lawrence Nowlan, Alfred Oliphant and Leo Shadaker, Santa Ana. Students other than members of the class may compete for positions on the team by applying to Farrar.

The first round of debates will be held before Christmas although no definite time has yet been selected. Two teams, an affirmative and a negative, will be chosen to compete in each debate. Santa Ana will meet Citrus, San Bernardino, Riverside, Pomona, Chaffey, and Fullerton junior colleges.

The Santa Ana Jaycee team plans to enter the Pi Delta Kappa, forensic society, tournament to be held at the College of the Pacific

Bride-Elect Reveals Plans For November 1 Wedding

Mrs. Harold L. Furtch of this city and Mrs. James C. Conrad of Costa Mesa were co-hostesses Tuesday evening in compliment to a bride-elect, Miss Betty Cook of Laguna Beach, who took this opportunity to announce the selection of November 1 as the date for her approaching wedding to Carl Smith of Our Village.

The engaged couple's parents live in Laguna Beach. Miss Cook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cook; Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith.

Mrs. Furtch and Mrs. Conrad entertained in the latter's home. Part of the evening was spent in working on friendship quilt blocks. Prizes rewarded Mrs. J. H. Smith and Mrs. E. J. Miller for first and second high scores in guessing contests.

Yellow and white decorations included chrysanthemums arranged throughout the room. Miscellaneous shower gifts for Miss Cook were placed on a large table centered with a yellow and white umbrella. Completing the effective setting was a miniature stairway with tiny bride and bridegroom figures.

Ice cream centered in yellow was served with cakes decked with orange blossoms. Nut cups bore slips of paper on which was written the names of the betrothed couple and the date, November 1. Miss Kitty Cook assisted the hostesses in serving.

Present were Mesdames E. J. Miller, George E. Furtch, Robert O. Smith, A. O. Smith, Jerry Hebert, Beattie McDonald and the Misses Mildred Ware and Muriel Lambert.

Dinner Hosts Receive At Smart Function In Country Club

Glowing with the tawny russet, bronze and gold hues of the autumn months, Santa Ana Country club last night received a group of guests when Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Irwin F. Landis entertained at dinner and bridge.

The autumn motif that distinguished decorations applied as well to details of table arrangement, where artistic cards designating places, later served for the recording of contract scores.

Mrs. Parke Roper and Mrs. Howard Timmons made first and second high scores among female guests, and received the attractive rewards selected by their hosts. Equally appropriate gifts were bestowed upon James Harding and Ernest Behr, with approximate scores among the men.

Lieutenant Commander Landis and Mrs. Landis received as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Behr, Mrs. George Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cogan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Davis, Mrs. H. T. Duckett, Mrs. H. T. Dunning, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hall, Mr. and Mrs. James Harding, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Kendall, Dr. Melbourne Maybee, Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Paterson, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Plum, Mr. and Mrs. Parke Roper, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tuthill.

Guest From Missouri Is Complimented

Complimenting Mrs. Mollie Brown of St. Louis, Mo. who is visiting her niece Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. J. H. Rolfing entertained with a luncheon in her home at Tustin this week.

Dahlia and chrysanthemums were used to deck the table as well as rooms of the home where guests spent a pleasant afternoon chatting after luncheon.

Sharing the pleasant affair were Mrs. Brown and Mesdames Ora Jennings, Elmer Smith, Glen Lyman, Amelia Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. E. Clark of San Bernardino and the hostess, Mrs. Rolfing.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

EASY - TO - MAKE WRAP - AROUND GIVES THE "FORTY-EIGHT" SLENDER LINES

PATTERN 2271

By ANNE ADAMS

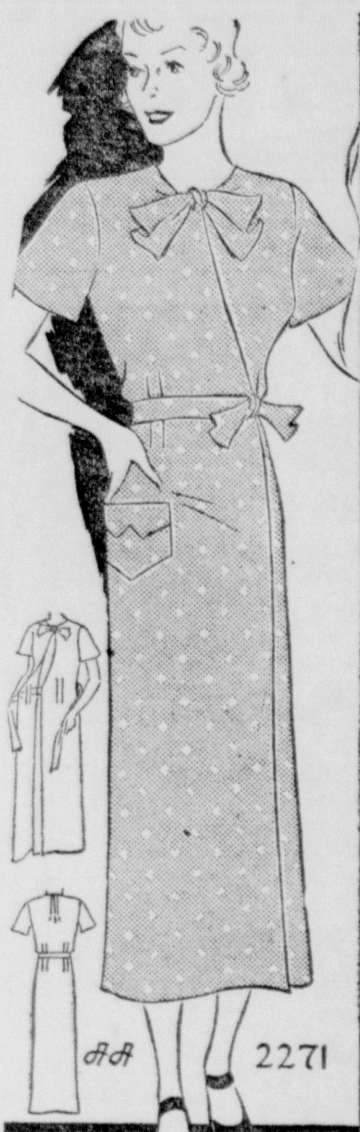

If you're a "forty-eight" or thereabouts, you're probably interested in finding a neat, comfortable house frock with as slim lines as you demand in a better dress. Seek no further, for here is the handiest of house frocks—a wrap-around that you can slip on in the morning, and tie into place as you run down stairs to put the kettle on. It's as easy as A B C to make, too, with your Anne Adams Instructor before you, and it's best in porcelaine, gingham or broadcloth. Carefully placed darts assure a snug and slender waistline, and a smooth line between the shoulders.

Pattern 2271 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 26 takes 4 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Important to send for your NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK FOR FALL AND WINTER! It pictures the newest styles and glorious new fabrics and shows how you can outfit yourself and your family—easily and inexpensively. Gives pattern-designs for lovely gifts, and tells how to look more charming by suiting your clothes and accessories to your own personality. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to Register Pattern Department.

Interest Heightens In Plans For Ebell Program Monday

Interest in Ebell society's program for next Monday at 2 p. m. in the clubhouse was heightened today when it was learned that Kismet Sirri, Turkish girl journalist who will be featured speaker, is known personally to residents in this community.

When Miss Sirri was a student at Occidental college a few years ago she was in contact with several Orange county young people taking their collegiate work at that time. Among them was Miss Agnes McKinstry, now teaching at Delhi. Miss McKinstry has commented upon her brilliancy, her charm, and the refreshing simplicity that characterized her at all times.

Her chosen subjects of study have taken Miss Sirri to various universities in this country as well as abroad. She is preparing for a diplomatic career, and has lived in Washington, D. C., at the Turkish embassy. Miss McKinstry and Miss Miriam Samuelson (who has the privilege of meeting the interesting student when visiting at Occidental) recall that she used to be in Washington during the height of the social season to act as hostess for her uncle, the Turkish ambassador.

Born in Smyrna, Turkey, where her father was a prominent publisher, this modern young Turkish woman has been actively interested in journalism for some time. Her topic Monday will be "A New Deal in Turkey." She is expected to discuss the awakening of Asia, presenting the Moslem angle on the present Ethiopian situation.

Harry Carr has evidenced his interest in Miss Sirri and her activities, one of the latest of which is the completion of a new book to be brought out in the near future.

Vandermaats Entertain With Family Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Vandermaat received a family group yesterday at a luncheon in their home, 425 South Birch street. Pink chrysanthemums were used in decorating.

Sharing the affair with the hosts were Mesdames John Kromer, Mattie Donkin and Emma Lyday, Los Angeles; J. J. Jacobs, Murray Vandermaat, W. N. Prince, Walter Vandermaat, Santa Ana.

Recent dinner guests of the Asa Vandermaats were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knute of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Vandermaat and P. E. Reid, this city.

Women's Service Club Is In Process Of Formation

Plans for the formation in Santa Ana of a branch of that women's service organization, Altrusa International, are expected to be completed next Monday at a noon luncheon to be held in El Favorita cafe, according to Mrs. Winola Cooper, member of the Pasadena club and chairman of extension of the ninth district.

Mrs. Cooper has been in Santa Ana at intervals over the past three weeks, in the interests of the new organization. On Tuesday night she presided at a dinner meeting at which several prospective members were given information on Altrusa International by state and district officers. Prominent among these were Miss Cornelia Plaster, San Diego librarian and president of the Library association of California, and Mrs. Belle Benchley, formerly of Fullerton, now director of San Diego's world-famous zoological garden.

Miss Mary Howard, Y.W.C.A. secretary is an old friend of Mrs. Cooper, and was a member of the Kalamazoo Altrusa club. The club is patterned after Rotary and similar well known men's service club, and like them limits its membership to a single representative of any one business or profession. Membership is strictly invitational.

County Garden Club Announces Program

Calling attention to the variety of a program awaiting Orange County Garden club members Wednesday in Orange Women's clubhouse, Mrs. J. E. Paul, county chairman of garden clubs, today prophesied an unusually large attendance from all over the county at the program to begin at 10 o'clock.

Morning speakers will provide much of this variety, for their subjects will range from the delicate and priceless orchid to the hardy chrysanthemums. Dr. J. P. Brastad of Anaheim, with whom orchid growing is a hobby, will tell of his experiences and probably illustrate his talk with examples of the blooms. Mrs. Perry Groat of Orange will devote her talk to maidenhair fern; Mrs. H. C. Kirk of Tustin will tell of pansies and their culture, and Miss Ada McPadden of this city will have chrysanthemums as her subject.

Luncheon at 12:30 will be the social phase of the day, and will be served by Orange clubwomen. Reservations must be made by Tuesday through Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, Orange 1253.

Featured on the afternoon program will be J. A. Gooch of the Armstrong nurseries, Ontario, a favorite speaker with Orange county flower lovers. He will make "Gardening" the general theme of his address.

Mrs. Paul will appoint a new treasurer for the club, whose present officers are herself, chairman, and Mrs. Fred Alden (Orange) secretary.

Contract Club Enjoys Hospitality Of E. M. Nealley Home

That hospitality which distinguishes the E. M. Nealley home on South Tustin avenue, yesterday was extended to the Thursday Contract club of which Mrs. Nealley is a member, and which met for its customary afternoon of bridge.

In the absence of Mrs. J. Frank Burke and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, two guests, frequent substitutes for club members, were entertained, Mrs. J. S. Smart and Mrs. E. E. Keech. Mrs. Burke keeps the record of scores so that duty was delegated to Mrs. N. A. Nealley, to be counted in the final tally of the year.

Mrs. Nealley used flowers in clear yellow to enhance the charm of her home, with its delightful, "bookish" atmosphere, lent by Mr. Nealley's valuable library. At the refreshment hour, when she served ices, cake and coffee, she placed complete sets of candies on each linen-spread table as a decorative touch.

Club members present were Mrs. Maxwell Burke, Miss Beulah May, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. C. M. Rowland, Mrs. N. A. Nealley, and the hostess, Mrs. Nealley, with Mrs. Smart and Mrs. Keech completing the group.

Children Assemble For Ninth Birthday Party

Hallow'en and birthday decorative motifs were combined yesterday afternoon in the enjoyable party which marked the ninth birthday of little Miss Elaine Harlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harlow, 1920 North Ross street.

Mrs. Harlow was hostess at the event, receiving youthful guests in her attractive home. Diversions of the afternoon included a bat hunt, in which prizes went to members of the winning team.

Birthday cake decorated in orange and black was served with pumpkin-centered ice cream and other dainties. Guests were seated at small tables appointed with nut cups and other decorations in the prevailing theme. Mrs. Harlow's aunt, Mrs. Alta Cook of this city, assisted her at this time. Elaine was showered with gifts.

Announcements

Four United Brethren church organizations will meet tonight Junior Christian Endeavor society will have a Hallow'en party at the home of Doris June and Earl Mustard, 414 South Garvey street, while Intermediate Girls Sunday school class will hold a social at the home of the teacher, Miss Ellen Tillotson, 949 West Myrtle street. Berean Adult Sunday school class will assemble at the church for a social evening while the Otterbein Brotherhood, under the presidency of G. R. Groat, will also meet in the church, taking as its topic for discussion, "Making America Christian."

Torosa Rebekah lodge announces plans for a bazaar and carnival to be held on the organization's next meeting date, Wednesday evening, November 13. The public is invited to attend the affair.

American Legion Auxiliary Mothers' club will hold an all day meeting Monday in Veterans hall. Covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Girl Scouts of the city are completing plans for a Hallow'en party to be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the old-fashioned barn of the Clyde Dearford home, South McClay street. This will be a masquerade affair.

Glendale's "Wee Kirk" To Be Setting For Wedding Rites

Much interest attaches to the wedding tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock in the Wee Kirk of the Heather, Glendale, of Miss Betty Smith and Norman Page Paul of this city.

Miss Smith, daughter of Mrs. C. M. Featherly, 1916 North Ross street, will have as matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. T. L. Renfro, (Helen Smith) of Taft. Mr. Paul, son of Mrs. Ralph L. Paul, 1023 West Fourth street, will be assisted by his brother, Howard Paul, as best man.

Graduating from U. S. C. last year, Norman Paul was Trojan track star for the three years of his U. S. C. course and co-holder of the world's record on the 220-yard low hurdles. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and Skull and Dagger. He is now a member of the Santa Ana Night school faculty.

District Star Matrons Are Luncheon Guests

District Eastern Star Matrons of 1936 were guests of their sponsor, Mrs. W. R. Sylvester, Wednesday at a luncheon in her home, 402 Halesworth street.

Green tapers decked tables where luncheon was served. Mrs. Gerna Holzgrafe, president of the group, conducted a business session. Reports were given on recent grand chapter sessions in Coronado.

Present, in addition to the hostess were Mrs. Clarence Orton of Huntington Beach and Mrs. Ruth De Buxton of Norwalk, outgoing deputies of the district; Mrs. James Tappley, Santa Ana, incoming deputy; with matrons including Mesdames J. F. Jacoby, Harvey Dimmitt, Santa Ana; S. B. Edwards, Orange; R. L. Shaw, Harold Welton, Fullerton; Lynn Shrewsbury, Laguna Beach; W. W. Santa Ana Is Wedded At Quiet Rites In Los Angeles Chapel

Of special interest in this city, girlhood home of the bride and where she received her high school and secretarial training, was the wedding Sunday evening, October 20, of Miss Hazel Amelia Salisbury and Lee Belford Webb of Los Angeles.

The bride is the daughter of William Lee Salisbury, 726 South Ross street, and he and Mrs. Salisbury were in Los Angeles to join the intimate little group of relatives assembled for the candle-light service held in Wilshire Presbyterian chapel at 7 o'clock.

Miss Salisbury was charmingly gowned in future blue with which she wore a fetching little black velvet hat with gloves and pumps also in black. Her flowers were orchids and lilies of the valley in corsage arrangement.

Mrs. Thomas Scott of Los Angeles, wearing an equally modish frock of deep blue with touches of gold and a shoulder corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley, was matron of honor while Mr. Scott performed the duties of best man. The Rev. J. Lowray Fenrich, pastor of Wilshire Presbyterian church, read the marriage service.

Mr. Webb and his bride left immediately for a short month honeymoon and will return to make their home at 2626 South Manhattan place, Los Angeles, until spring when they will go into their own home. Mr. Webb, a native of Southern Texas, has lived in Los Angeles for a number of years and is with the collection department of Security First National bank of that city. His bride has occupied a secretarial position with the realty and insurance firm of Coldwell, Cornwall and Banks.

PANTRY SHELF

MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM Luncheon

Pickle Relish Cole Slaw Salad
2 thin slices of rye bread lightly buttered (1-2 teaspoon)
Pot of tea, with milk only Calory total, 395.
Quarter a small head of cabbage and grate into a bowl. Add to the cabbage 2 tablespoons of sweet pickle relish or home-made sandwich spread relish, and enough diet mayonnaise to mix to desired state of moistness. This is an individual serving of 1, designed for the dieting member who must make the meal on just what is outlined. For the family smaller portions dressed with regulation mayonnaise will be used, and to the salad add bread and butter, or rolls, and some sort of simple dessert and beverage.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Ripe Tomato Chutney Sauce
5 pounds ripe tomatoes
3 pounds of tart apples
2 pounds dry onions
2 pounds white sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 quart vinegar
1 teaspoon, each, cayenne and black pepper
1 tablespoon powdered cinnamon
Peel and slice tomatoes, peel apples and onions and run them through the food chopper. Cook with the tomatoes until you have a soft puree. If quite liquid pour off a cupful or more, add the sugar, vinegar and spices and cook slowly until the sauce is thick and rich. Stir constantly during the last hour of cooking. The recipe will make better than 6 pints.
There are a dozen spots ready for this toothsome sauce: in sandwich spreads, in meat loaf and over it, in sauces, salad dressings or potato salad... these are just a few of its many uses.

Jamaica Salmon

1 medium sized onion
1 ripe tomato, or 1/2 cup canned tomato

1 small green pepper
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 pound can of red salmon
Hot buttered toast

Prepare the three vegetables and run them through the food chopper. Fry in butter until soft, season, add the flaked salmon and make very hot. If you like your fish dishes a bit more peppery, add a good pinch of cayenne. Serve over hot buttered toast, with a crisp green salad. This is a good hot dish for Sunday Supper. (The recipe as given, serves 3 only.)

I know that a lot of women are disappointed every year with the way their catsups and chili sauces darken. There's a way round this fault.

Prepare all vegetables as called for in the recipe; cook to a soft mush. If much liquid floats to the top while the puree is cooling, drain off some of it. Add the sugar and vinegar, and whatever spices, whole or ground, tied in a small cheese cloth bag. Cook with the sauce, but remove before sealing the sauce. The pre-cooking of the vegetables, plus the quick short cooking with the sugar keeps the sauces a bright color and a better flavor.

Saturday: Quince Honey and Bridge Pudding will be the recipes. ANN MEREDITH.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

Job's Daughters

With district deputy and guardian, Mrs. Emily Warren, present on her official inspection tour, Job's Daughters initiated three new members Tuesday at their meeting in Masonic temple. The Misses Jean Russick, Helen Andrews and Janice Helman were new members welcomed.

Mrs. Warren was presented with a corsage bouquet of white sweet peas and an attractive tray as the gift of the bethel.

A brief musical program was enjoyed in which Miss Anna May Archer played a cello solo accompanied by Miss Audrey Pieper, and Miss Virginia Stewart gave a piano selection.

Members voted, during the business session, to send their guardian, Mrs. William Dean, to the state convention at Sacramento next month.

Plans were completed for the card party to be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the temple, and for the parents' banquet to be given jointly with DeMolay on November 6 with dinner at 6:30 and a program at 8 p. m.

Concluding the meeting, members adjourned to the main dining room where Halloween refreshments were served by a committee composed of Misses Charlotte McCausland, Helen Meyer, Mercedes Kellogg, Esther Belle Christian, and Margaret Abel.

Parent-Teachers

McKinley
One hundred members and guests of McKinley P-T. A. took part in a covered-dish dinner Tuesday night in the school. Executive board members of the association, headed by Mrs. George Krock as chairman, were on the committee in charge.

Dinner was served at long tables decorated in orange and black. Bunko and cards were played by adults, while children in the group played other games.

Lincoln
Miss Linda Paul, Lincoln school principal, was hostess at a dinner party this week in her home, 2015 North Main street, entertaining Lincoln P-T. A. executive board, faculty members and grade mothers of the school.

Twenty-two guests were present for the event. Miss Paul's nephew, Paul Allen, sang solos, accompanied at the piano by Miss Marie Osborn.

With Miss Paul and Mrs. B. B. Beasley, association president, members discussed plans for activities of the year. The remainder of the evening was devoted to playing games and working puzzles.

Jack Fisher Auxiliary

Making lap robes to take to the Veterans hospital at San Fernando when they join the men's chapter in visiting there November 3, members of Jack Fisher auxiliary, D. A. V. held an all day sewing meeting Wednesday with Mrs. Van Leonard Brown, 917 Louise street. Covered dish luncheon was served at noon, with Mrs. James Wylie assisting in hostess duties.

Mrs. Harry Edwards was appointed general chairman of a benefit party to be given Wednesday, October 30 at 8 p. m. in K. C. hall. There will be prizes for auction and contract bridge, pin-ochle and 500. Assisting Mrs. Edwards will be Mrs. Harry Pickard, decorations, Mesdames Dean Laub and Henry Marrs, prizes; George Gold and Leo Payne, refreshments; Van Leonard Brown and B. L. Chittenden, tables; David Day, tickets. Reservations for the party may be made with Mrs. Edwards or Mrs. Day.

Reports were also heard during the business session from members who had worked in the Community Chest drive and assisted in folding tuberculosis Christmas seals.

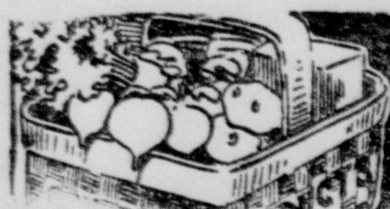

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Edwards, 820 Halladay street, November 13.

Those present were the Mesdames Dean Laub, David Day, Harry Edwards, Mary Fisher, Milton Crawford, B. L. Chittenden, Olga Woods, L. Payne, Perry Boone, George Gold, Harry Pickard, Miss Lydia Fisher, the hostesses Mesdames Wylie and Brown, and James Wylie Jr.

TO ADVERTISE SALMON

JUNEAU, Alaska, (UP)—Alaska salmon, one of the nation's most prized food fishes, will be brought to attention of the world this year through an intensive national advertising campaign by the Associated Salmon Packers of Alaska. The association has a $250,000 fund for the purpose, obtained through a 5 cents per can levy on pack of members.

— THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF —

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce

© 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JEAN DUNN, secretary to DON-ALD MONTAGUE, lawyer, delays her answer when Bobby Wallace, automobile salesman, asks Jean to marry him.

At The Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARKINS, whose business connection is vague. Sandy introduces Bobby and Jean to MRS. and MRS. LEWIS and Bobby arranges to sell some bonds for Lewis.
He tells them to Jean's employer.

LARRY GLENN, federal agent, is long a friend of Jean's parents, is trying to locate Wingy Lewis, bank robber. Larry locates some stolen bonds and questions SONNY BOYD.
He bought the bonds from Donald Montague. Montague tells Larry he bought them from Bobby.

Larry talks to Bobby, learns Lewis bought a car recently, and suspects it is armored. Federal men go to Lewis' hotel, but he and his wife have disappeared.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

Even a government detective on a manhunt has time for a little private life occasionally—especially when the trail he is on grows cold and leaves him, temporarily, without a lead. So it happened that the night after the raid found Larry Glenn and Bobby Wallace eating an informal dinner with Jean Dunn in Jean's apartment.

The dinner was by way of being a farewell party for Jean, who was to leave for home, on a week's vacation, the following day. Bobby, chastened and humble because of his misadventure with the stolen bonds, looked at her admiringly as she served the meal—she was very pretty, with a crinkly little apron over her summer frock, and she happened also to be an excellent cook.

Jean simply must marry him.
The love-stricken youth mused, gazing darkly into his bowl of concomme, his spoon poised at the brim. She had been seeing a good deal of this Sandy Harkins, and that was a bad thing—for Larry Glenn discovered facts that convinced him that Sandy was a gangster, a member of the desperate Red Jackson mob? Of course, Jean really could not care anything for the man...but it wasn't a good thing for a girl like her to be associating with him at all.

Oh, well, Bobby would get her to set a definite date for their wedding, and he'd warn her about Harkins, and—

But just then the others recalled him to his surroundings by asking him if he had come into a trance, and his earnest daydream dissolved in embarrassed laughter.

They had a gay evening, these three old friends, recalling hometown experiences, joking about people they had known and pranks they had played as children, and reveling in the intimacy of old friendship.

which seemed utterly trivial, at the time, but which was to become, much later, an event of vast importance.

Jean learned for the first time, that Larry was a department of justice operative. Highly thrilled, she piled him with questions about his job and asked him among other things, how fingerprints were taken. Larry explained by giving a demonstration.

It happened that Jean had an ink pad on her desk. Taking it and a sheet of note paper, Larry playfully took impressions of her finger tips, explaining how each person's prints differ from every other person's. Then, carelessly, he tossed the paper bearing the prints into the wastebasket.

Bobby instantly retrieved it.

"I've got her picture," he explained, grinning, to Larry. "I've got a lot of pictures of her. I've got a ribbon she used to wear in her pigtail when she was so high.
I've got a little tin-and-paper badge she wore one time at a Christian Endeavor convention.
I've got a lot of other things that remind me of her. Now I've got one more thing—something that nobody else has got."

They laughed at him as he pocketed the paper, and then they forgot all about it—until, weeks later, it became of the most profound significance.

Larry Glenn left shortly before 10 o'clock, remarking that he would "leave you two youngsters to yourselves." They protested—Bobby's protest being less than urgent—but Larry insisted, wished Jean a happy vacation, and bowed himself out.

Bobby immediately took a position on the couch beside Jean and slipped his arm about her shoulders; but when he tried to draw her to him she quietly resisted, and when he finally got the kiss he was seeking, her lips did not return his pressure. He released her and sat looking at her glumly.

"What's the matter, honey?" he asked. Jean resorted to one of those little mannerisms which women use at such moments, and carefully patted her hair into place in front of her right ear.

cently.

"Well—" said Bobby doubtfully.

MISSING MOMENTS

When you forget to put baking powder in the cake batter, there is sure to be something missing in the appearance of that cake when it comes from the oven!

Isn't it discouraging after trying your best to make a cup of good coffee to find that something is missing in its flavor? The situation is even more distressing when you have been trying one brand of coffee after another in your efforts to get a cup of coffee that tastes right.
Nothing can take the place of flavor in coffee.

It is virtually impossible to make a really good cup of coffee if there is variation in the blend, roast, grind or pack of the coffee you use.
The thing to do is change to Hills Bros. Coffee. It is a never-changing BLEND of the finest coffees grown. This blend is roasted by an exclusive process—CONTROLLED ROASTING—that insures uniform flavor in every pound. This rich, matchless flavor is completely protected by Hills Bros.' VACUUM PACK.
And the GRIND of Hills Bros. Coffee gives perfect results in any coffeemaking utensil.

There's nothing missing in

COFFEE

"Well, why don't—why don't you want me to kiss you?"

As a matter of fact, Jean was wondering the same thing. Why didn't she want him to? But she only said, "Oh, Bobby, let's just talk."

Bobby stared at her, then made a humorous grimace, took his arm away, and said, "Okay. Let's talk.
Go ahead."

She pouted prettily and said,
"Oh, Bobby, don't be like that."

"Like what?"

They looked at each other, and discovered that they were close to a quarrel, and neither of them understood quite why.

"What's the matter tonight?
Want me to go home—" demanded
Bobby.

"Nothing's the matter. Do you want to go?"

The looks they were exchanging came closer to the classification of "glare." Bobby sat back and crossed his legs. He took out a cigarette and lit it with vast care.
Then, impulsively, he dropped his cigarette into the ashtray, turned to face Jean, laid his hands on hers, and said softly, "Jean, dearest, let's not quarrel—please. Is anything wrong?"

To his surprise her eyes became misty. She shook her head "No."
"I love you, Jean. You love me, don't you?"

She looked at him a long time before she answered, and then she found herself saying, rather shakily:

"Oh, Bobby, it's so—you see, we've known each other all our lives, and I know I'm terribly fond of you...but I wonder—"

"Yes?"

"I wonder if maybe—"

She left the sentence unfinished.
He tightened his grip on her hands and said, "Please, Jean, for heaven's sake—maybe what?"

"Oh—" She withdrew her hands, reached for a microscopic handkerchief, and dabbed at the corner of one eye. "Maybe it's just that I love you like—like a sister would. I mean—"

Bobby suddenly had a depressing mental image of the long and domantic figure of Sandy Harkins; and he said soberly, "Jean is there—do you care for somebody else?"

"She looked miserably at the floor and said, 'I don't know.'"

"You never thought you loved me like a sister until just now," persisted Bobby. "It is—" He hesitated. They, hating himself for saying it, he said, "Is it this Harkins fellow?"

She made no answer but continued to stare at the floor. Bobby looked at her for a long time.
He felt a sudden flare of anger —not at Jean, but at the lanky westerner who, he believed, had come between them.

"It is, isn't it?" he said. Still she made no answer, but it seemed to him that her continued silence was answer enough.

"Don't do it, Jean," he said at last. His anger put an unexpected rasp in his voice. She looked up, surprised. "Don't do what?"
she asked.

"Don't fall for that bird," he said, his tone more harsh than he had intended to make it.

There was a glint of anger in the line of her mouth as she returned his gaze. He ignored it, ignored caution as well, and plunged on:

"For your own good, Jean! Not because of me—for yourself. Why, you don't know anything about him. You don't know who he is or where he came from or what he does or anything. For all you know he may be a crook!"

"Bobby!" There was real anger in her voice now.

"Well, it's so. You don't know.
You met him in a night club. Larry Glenn said you never know who you meet in a place like that.
He might be a gangster. He might—"

"Stop!" she cried, her eyes blazing.

"Well, it's true," he said. She looked at him scornfully.

"I didn't think that of you,
Bobby."

"Think what?"

"That you'd be so jealous you'd —you'd blackguard a man behind his back, when he isn't here to defend himself."

"I'm not blackguarding him."

"Oh, no!"

"Well, I'm not. I'm just—"

"What do you call it, then? Telling me he may be a crook or a gangster? He's a clean-cut, decent boy. You're the one that doesn't know anything about him. I do.
I've seen him a lot. I like him."

They sat facing each other, flushed, intensely in earnest, intensely unhappy, and both of them
—if an outsider could have watched—just a little ludicrous, as youth is when it eagerly turns a little misunderstanding into a great quarrel.

And then, to his complete amazement, she began to cry on his shoulder.

As she sat in the Pullman car
the next afternoon, on her way

AMERICA AND ENGLAND HELD PEACE GUARDS

Dr. W. C. Munro, professor of political science at the California Institute of Technology, was the featured speaker at last night's meeting of the adult education department, held in the auditorium of the Francis Willard Junior High school.

Dr. Munro discussed European war politics, stressing their relationship to America in the present crisis. Any European war is of vital interest to this country, he said, for three reasons. First, that Europe is now so much closer to this country; second, that Europe is America's biggest customer, and last on account of the $11,000,000,000 mortgage this country holds on Europe.

History, he said, has taught that America can not keep out of any general world war, and the chances are that if the European conflict spreads we inevitably will be drawn into it. He said the peace of the world depended on the attitude of America and England.

The speaker also discussed the peculiar situation of France in regard to world conflict, due to its geographical situation, and of the internal pressure which is forcing Italy to war.

It was announced that Dr. Paul Perigord, professor of French Civilization at U. C. L. A., would be the next speaker, discussing the foreign policy of France. A forum discussion will follow the talk.

Hold That Tiger, Wally!

Look! There's a man under that 600-pound tiger, and he's none other than Wallace Beery, the famous movie actor. Looks as though he's going to be gnawed to death, but don't worry—Wally got out of the struggle unharmed. You see, the animal had been well fed beforehand, so this scene for a new movie wasn't so dangerous after all.

Boy Star Faces Custody Battle

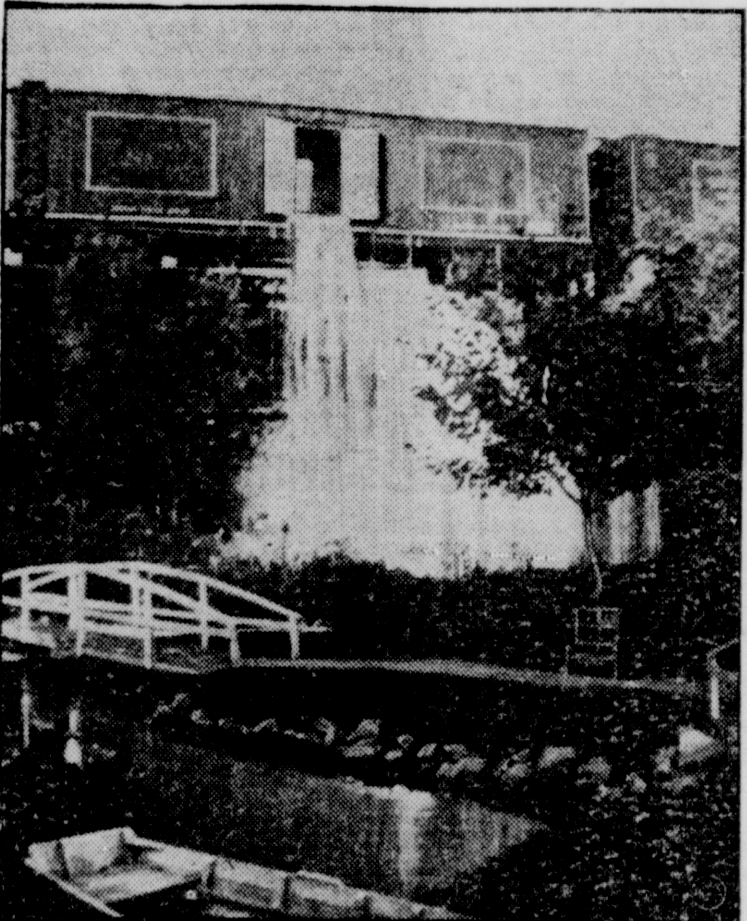

The comradeship which long has existed between Hollywood's famed boy star, Freddie Bartholomew, and his guardian aunt, Miss Millicent Bartholomew, as revealed in this intimate studio lunch scene, was threatened by reports that the lad's parents in England may move to regain his custody. Miss Bartholomew has announced she will seek permanent custody of Freddie, 11, for whom she has cared since his

Strikers Make Cataract of Milk

A Niagara of milk poured off this Chicago & Northwestern railroad bridge near Genoa City, Wis., when farmers, striking for higher prices, took charge of the train and dumped the contents of several dairy cars consigned to the Chicago market. New reports of violence were received from several sections as efforts continued to arrange a truce in the strike affecting northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HIX

For further good address the author, enclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Mozart, prodigy, genius, master of harmony and composition, lived and died for his music—to him little else was important from the time he was a toddling child of two until, 35 years later, exhausted and debt-ridden, he died in his shabby home, attended by his wife who didn't bother to mark his final resting place, and friends who let a rainstorm keep them from his graveside.

Yet, strange as it seems, not a note of music was played or sung at the funeral of the music master. Not even his Requiem that he worked on during the last days of his life was heard. It is about the composition of this Requiem that one of the strangest stories of musical history is told.

Mozart, during his last illness, was visited by a stranger who declined to give his name, but who asked the composer write a requiem. Later the stranger came again but the piece was not completed. Mozart, by this time, had become obsessed with the idea that the stranger was a messenger of death—and that the order for a requiem was a warning that his own death was close at hand. During the last few days of his life, Mozart wrote some of the best music of his career into the Requiem. When the stranger came the third time, Mozart was dead, and the Requiem, still unfinished, was completed by a student.

In 1930, in the space of four months, Bobby Jones won the four great golf championships of the world—a feat that no other golfer has been able to accomplish in a lifetime of playing. First, the British Amateur at St. Andrews, then the British Open at Hoylake. The following month he won the U. S. Open at Interlaken, and finally the U. S. Amateur at Philadelphia.

long streamers set closely with flowers and there must be a bushel of pods. I calculated, as I planted a few of them, if I could get a plant from every seed and a quarter from every plant, I would be able to retire from the nursery business and take a trip around the world. To be sure, there would scarcely be ground space in Orange county to accommodate the growing plants—but there is always a flaw somewhere in these get-rich-quick schemes.

The vine is Lophospermum scandens. We call it "Gloxinia Vine" from the shape of its rosy pink flowers. The foliage is silvery green and it is all together a most attractive vine. I wonder we don't see more of it—no doubt we shall when my seeds get into action. I grew it first from a seed a couple years ago, and the vine I now have was self-sown.

Then I bethought me of the seed box tucked away in the office closet. So I poured the packets out on the table and rummaged through them. Here was an old envelop labelled "Coral vine seeds from Harry's old place." And another "Royal Poinciana seeds from Florida." These date back ten years to our last visit to Florida—may be some life in the old seeds yet—I shall try a few of the Coral Vine.

Passing by the seeds of Delphinium Belladonna gathered in my garden some seven or eight years ago, and various harvestings down to Golden Gleams only a brief year old, I selected a few packets and bled me to the garden. It being extremely doubtful if anything will come from these seeds, I stood not upon the order of their planting, but merely dug up a spot here and there in the open ground with the trowel and sowed the seed—mignonette in half a dozen patches along the path, similar against a lath wall, sweet peas around a post. Then, with due care in seed pans, Schizanthus, Campanula Carpatia, Begonia Christinas, Ageratum, and something quite new to me, Tetranema Mexicana, catalogued as making "elegant tufts of graceful foliage with clusters of purplish violet flowers."

Item 7. Schizanthus like cool weather for growing and are delightful flowers. There is this year a new dwarf variety which will be especially good for pot culture or for the forefront of garden beds.

Item 8. No seed will germinate in a packet—so if you are hoarding seeds you might as well sift them into the ground somewhere around the place and see what happens.

I said we would talk about ferns this week—but this is the day I shun appointed tasks. I've had a lovely, lazy garden day, Dear Fellow Gardeners. I wish you many like it.

N. B. Keep on thinking of maidenhair fern for another week.

SECURITY—THE GREAT OBJECTIVE

The dispatches from Chicago carry the news of a great outpouring of representatives of Townsend Old Age Pension clubs all over this country.

They have jammed their convention hall to capacity and thousands, unable to enter, listened to amplifiers outside. Back in their home towns are millions more, watching the news dispatches, listening to the words that may come from that convention.

Thirty-odd representatives are in Chicago from Orange county alone. This group of thirty represents 10,000 members of the Townsend clubs in this county.

Whatever one may think of this movement, there is a certain amount of tragedy which it represents, and, from some aspects, it is almost pitiful.

With something as great, and, in their judgment, as holy as the gigantic religious crusades, these people are devoting themselves to their program with a confidence in success that puts to shame nearly all other religious, philanthropic and commercial efforts in this country.

Whatever one's opinion of it may be, this convention is bound to challenge the attention of all thoughtful people. While they are specific in their demands from the government, the motivating impulse back of it is an impulse that is dominating, more and more, the lives of men and women in their activities.

This is the intense desire for SECURITY. Our economic and social life has been so shaken with the earthquakes of financial disaster and ruin, with the former foundation of SECURITY, namely, labor and thrift, production and saving, almost utterly destroyed, that rich and poor, old and young, are seeking something that may insure SECURITY.

They have given up hope that it can be achieved individually. The idea now is mass—get together—unite—society itself must do it.

This phenomenon should teach the lesson, in a land of plenty and of almost unlimited production, to the leaders in our social, economic and political life, that they are going to be held to the obligation of solving this question of SECURITY to the masses, or it will be solved for them.

The Townsends have adopted what they believe to be a program which is a complete solution to their gaining SECURITY and the country gaining prosperity. It is really not so important as to whether one believes that the Townsends have discovered that solution. That is not the important question.

The important thing is that their activities, together with the economic facts that are before our nation, demand that that SECURITY shall be found. When that SECURITY is found, as a permanent solution, it will be discovered to be in harmony with the spirit of co-operation, with the idea of producing more and not less. It will be in harmony with the idea of everybody working who is able to work, at a job that is worth doing.

Nothing is gained by those who believe that the Townsend movement is on a wrong financial basis, who either ridicule or ignore them, for, in any case, the movement is an expression of the yearning of the human soul.

It has sufficient basis in realism, because of the production in the United States, to force even upon a reluctant industrial leadership, that SECURITY for the masses must finally be achieved and if this leadership does not show the way, it will be found somehow.

The sincerity, the enthusiasm, the numbers, the need, all expressed in this Townsend movement, should bear fruitage in a real use that shall be made of our potential plenty for humanity.

HONKING HORNS A NUISANCE

The city of New York is in the midst of a campaign to reduce unnecessary noises and the auto horn is coming in for a great deal of consideration.

The survey shows that people are less affected by noises of elevated trains and street cars, which those making the survey deem unavoidable, than by noises that are regarded as unnecessary.

Honking automobile horns are especially irritating to many people and New Yorkers are reading about auto horn noises with avidity.

In many cities of Italy, honking is forbidden except in case of emergency. Blowing auto horns in the city of Rome is forbidden and many other cities have availed themselves of their right to pass laws prohibiting the use of horns.

Arnaldi Cortesi, writing for the New York Times, says the experience of various Italian cities has proven conclusively that it is possible for traffic, even heavy traffic, to move without the use of any warning signal whatever. The speed of vehicles is reduced, but not greatly, and number of accidents of all kinds has been reduced.

Sweden has in effect a law that a horn shall not be blown anywhere in the country except when a driver wishes to signal another driver of his intention to pass. The driver ahead of him must not "toot" back in reply, but must signal with his hand that he understands. The Swedish law expressly forbids the blowing of horns at street and highway intersections.

England now has a law which prescribes that no horn shall be sounded in any built-up area between 11:30 p. m. and 7 a. m. In the opinion of the British Minister of Transport, there is overwhelming evidence that the establishment of silent zones has contributed greatly to the general comfort without constituting a source of danger.

Paris has been silent at night during the past seven years from 10 p. m. to 7 a. m., but during the day remains one of the noisiest cities in the world.

Germany and Belgium have laws that all horns must have the same tone and that it must not be either sharp or unnecessarily irritating. The presumption of all these regulations is that the greater care imposed on drivers by depriving them of the use of their horns as signals will reduce traffic casualties. Automobile drivers then would depend more upon their brakes and place less reliance on their ability to blast a way through traffic with raucous noises.

In all English-speaking countries, the pedestrian has the right of way, but in our own country he is often foolish if he tries to exercise it. It is probable that if "honking" were not permitted, a pedestrian might dare to walk upon the highways as the old English law held he had a right to do.

GERMANY'S CONTROLLED PRESS

How completely the German press has come under the control of the Nazi government is manifest from the records of the department of the Minister of Propaganda. The Manchester Guardian prints the record for the month of August in a recent issue, noting the exact order as it came from the Department of Propaganda, and its own comment on each item.

A few of the items are illuminating. An order of August 5 commands that nothing shall be printed concerning a report from Grunau where the rowing championship took place. It appears that at that event, Jews were assaulted and beaten up.

On August 6, the newspapers are commanded to note the centennial of the Krupp works organization, and to comment favorably on the founder, Herr Krupp, his work, and the present managers of the firm. This, as all know, is the great armament works of the German empire.

On August 10, it is ordered that deliveries of goods to Italy and Ethiopia are not to be published. On August 19, it is ordered that there be no attacks upon Italy in the newspapers of the country. On August 23, it is ordered that a visit of Van Papen to Vienna be not mentioned. There are many other prohibitions equally significant.

All this simply makes the German press nothing but a pawn of the state. It is no wonder that many newspapers have gone out of business, and the circulation of others has fallen below the non-profit line.

The people of the country take no stock in anything they read in the newspapers because they know that the truth is being kept from them. Many of the people have ceased to read at all.

It is difficult for an American to conceive of a situation like that. We are not unaware of news items suppressed in some of our newspapers by powerful private interests. But there is always sufficient rivalry among American newspapers to keep suppression down to the minimum.

Where the press is shackled, the people are not free. It marks the beginning of an intolerable tyranny.

General A. W. Greely

San Francisco Chronicle

General Adolphus W. Greely, who died Sunday at 91, was a survivor of the ancient times of polar exploration, before there were airplanes and, indeed, before it had dawned on Arctic travelers that the Eskimo technique, developed by thousands of years of experience, could not be beaten by the attempts of raw white men.

Greely's Arctic expedition was one of the very few ever sent out by the United States Government. It was one of scientific observation rather than exploration. He was sent in 1881 to Grinnell Land to establish one of the thirteen international circumpolar stations. Though the expedition ended in disaster to its men it was successful in its scientific objects. In addition, Lieutenant J. B. Lockwood, with sledges, reached 83 degrees 24 minutes north, the highest north attained by man up to that time.

Disaster came through the failure of two successive expeditions sent to bring Greely's party home. It was not until June 22, 1884, that the third relief expedition, commanded by Captain W. S. Schley, reached Cape Sabine and took off the seven survivors of the party of twenty-five men. That, by the way, was the first service under the United States flag of the famed old cutter Bear, now Admiral Byrd's Bear of Oakland.

For his achievements in the Arctic General Greely was last year belatedly given the Congressional Medal of Honor. Greely came home from Grinnell Land to a long and notable service with the Army. He headed the Weather Bureau and the Signal Corps until 1906 and in that capacity was responsible for the laying of 25,000 miles of cables and telegraph lines in Alaska, China, Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines. In 1906, as a Major General, he conducted relief operations in San Francisco after the great fire.

"Regretfully"

Oakland Tribune

Sadness and resignation appear to be in the tones of the Japanese spokesman who, at the embassy in Shanghai, announces that his country may "find it necessary to separate" the five provinces of Hoped, Shantung, Suiyuan, Chahar and Shanxi from the administration of the Central Chinese Government unless the latter cooperates in "promoting the national economic affinity between North China and Manchukuo and in combating communistic influence working through outer Mongolia."

Japan will hate to do this, is the inference, but it may be necessary. Realists who would translate diplomatic speech into ordinary words, say this is the expected notice that Japan is about to take over the five provinces named and add them to its rapidly growing continental empire. China, denying the charges of communistic influences, has reason to fear that another slice is to be carved from its territory.

Those who follow the developments in the Orient have ticketed this move for the immediate future. They have said that the disturbed situation in Europe offers the opportunity for Japan to go ahead with its expansion program without exciting so much of the protest which otherwise might be present. The territory included in the provinces which appear to be the goal of the next move joins with Manchukuo and other areas already definitely taken over. Right now most of it is under control or occupancy of Japanese troops. The "regretful" announcement of a Tokyo spokesman means that the policy of absorbing China is not means.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

AIN'T IT A SHAME?
(On reading that men must acquire success early in life or not at all.)

Time was when I yearned for achievement,
I longed to be hailed with acclaim,
I said to myself,
I shall win stacks of pelf
And thousands shall honor my name.
This job didn't seem very easy,
But I thought, with a satisfied smile:
It will not be so hard
To become a great bard,
And the effort will be worth my while.

I toiled, for a time, like a Trojan,
But the world I could not set on fire;
If I hit a fast pace
In the gruelling race
Some fellow rose just a bit higher;
And at last I gave up my ambition
In plain simple language, I quit,
For then I'd found out
Fast a shadow of doubt
I was one of the hopeless unfit.

And now I have learned that a person,
Who doesn't begin when he's young
Will lose every chance
To progress or advance,
And will perish unwept and unsung.
So I've given up hope of a future;
My life will be never sublime,
And it seems just too bad
That I, when a lad,
Didn't waste even more of my time.

HARD TO ACCOUNT FOR

A Japanese scientist says that cat fish know when an earthquake is coming. But why should such a gift be bestowed on a catfish, when all he needs to do is to swim out of the earthquake's way?

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

FOUNDATIONS FOR KINDLING WOOD

We would think a man a bit touched if he saw him burning the foundations of his house for kindling wood just because thereby he could temporarily give warmth to his family.

If the need were desperate enough, we could understand his chopping up a back porch, for the house would stand without that, but the foundations of the house are different.

This, I think, is an accurate analogy of what is happening the world over where men are assuming that the hope of mankind lies in concentrating all power in their national governments.

This worldwide passion to centralize power, to which I referred yesterday, is an ancient delusion that has brought ruins to one people after another all down the ages.

Admittedly there are some very urgent social and economic problems now vexing us in the United States which, granted a clear head at the center and a steady hand at the helm, we could solve more swiftly through an all-dominant national government.

But in order to gain that speed in solution we would have to sell our descendants into slavery to the state.

And the state, no matter how sincerely benevolent it may be while it is accumulating power, ends always in tyranny once its monopoly of authority becomes complete.

And, as the great Democrat, Woodrow Wilson, once wrote, "To buy temporary ease and convenience for the performance of a few great tasks of the hour at the expense of that would be too great a price and to cheat all generations for the sake of one."

This is the supreme issue of our time.

TEACHERS AND AUTHORITY

Some teachers, whom parents write to me about, mistake the quality of their authority. They seem to feel that keeping school is some sort of a game between themselves and the children in which one pits himself against the other, and the one who has the power, wins. They forget that school is a life experience, and it is their business to make that experience as fine as possible.

They still think that education is a matter of books, tests, records, marks, discipline. That's a grave error. Education is a far deeper thing than any and all these. Hidden in each child is a spark of the infinite. Unless the teacher touches that, she has accomplished nothing.

Any teacher, who thinks that what she says is reasonable, wise and logical and what the child says is impudence, is in danger. After all, what she says and does is the pattern that she wants the child to follow. Impudence in a child is apt to be an echo of her own speech and manner. If she doesn't like it she knows whom to blame—herself.

No teacher should think of a child as "that young monkey who doesn't seem to understand that I am his teacher. When I speak to him he looks straight at me and considers whether or not he will answer. He has yet to learn that what I say is law. He thinks he is as good as I am. The impudence of him."

That attitude will render the teacher's work useless. There should never be a question as to a child's being better than his teacher. The only question that can stand between a child and his teacher is, "What can I do to serve the child?"

One day Michael was hurrying along the corridor to meet his group in the playground. In passing he brushed none too gently against his teacher, who was standing in the way.

"You unqualified pig," she hissed.

"The same for you," he answered.

No grown person has any right to say anything like that to a child. A little carelessness in manners is not an unpardonable offense. When a teacher says something to a child that she would not dare to say to a grown-up, the child is justified in speaking up. Can you blame Michael if he grumbled, "Aw, the old crab. She gives me a pain in the neck. What do you think? I'm no Mr. Milktoast, and I'm not going to stand there like a gump and never say a word."

The teacher should abandon an old notion, long cherished, that her age and position give license to impose on children. She has to give up that idea completely. The fact that she has lived longer and is a hundred pounds heavier, does not give her the right to make a child surrender his personality. It does impose responsibility. As she is strong she should be merciful. From her, to whom much has been given, much is expected. Authority does not come of the law. It comes of the spirit. You speak with authority only when you have gained wisdom by long suffering, by trial and triumph. For authority that really counts with children shines like a lighted lamp and puts mellowness and understanding into the tones of your voice.
